Colerain High School extends opportunity. Each student is offered the chance to succeed—in academics, in sports, in preparing himself for his future.

The teachers and facilities present enable the students to explore, to question, to think—to derive from the educational system that knowledge which will help to shape their lives.

Colerain High School extends the opportunity for achievement—either individually or with the group, whether in the classroom or on the field.

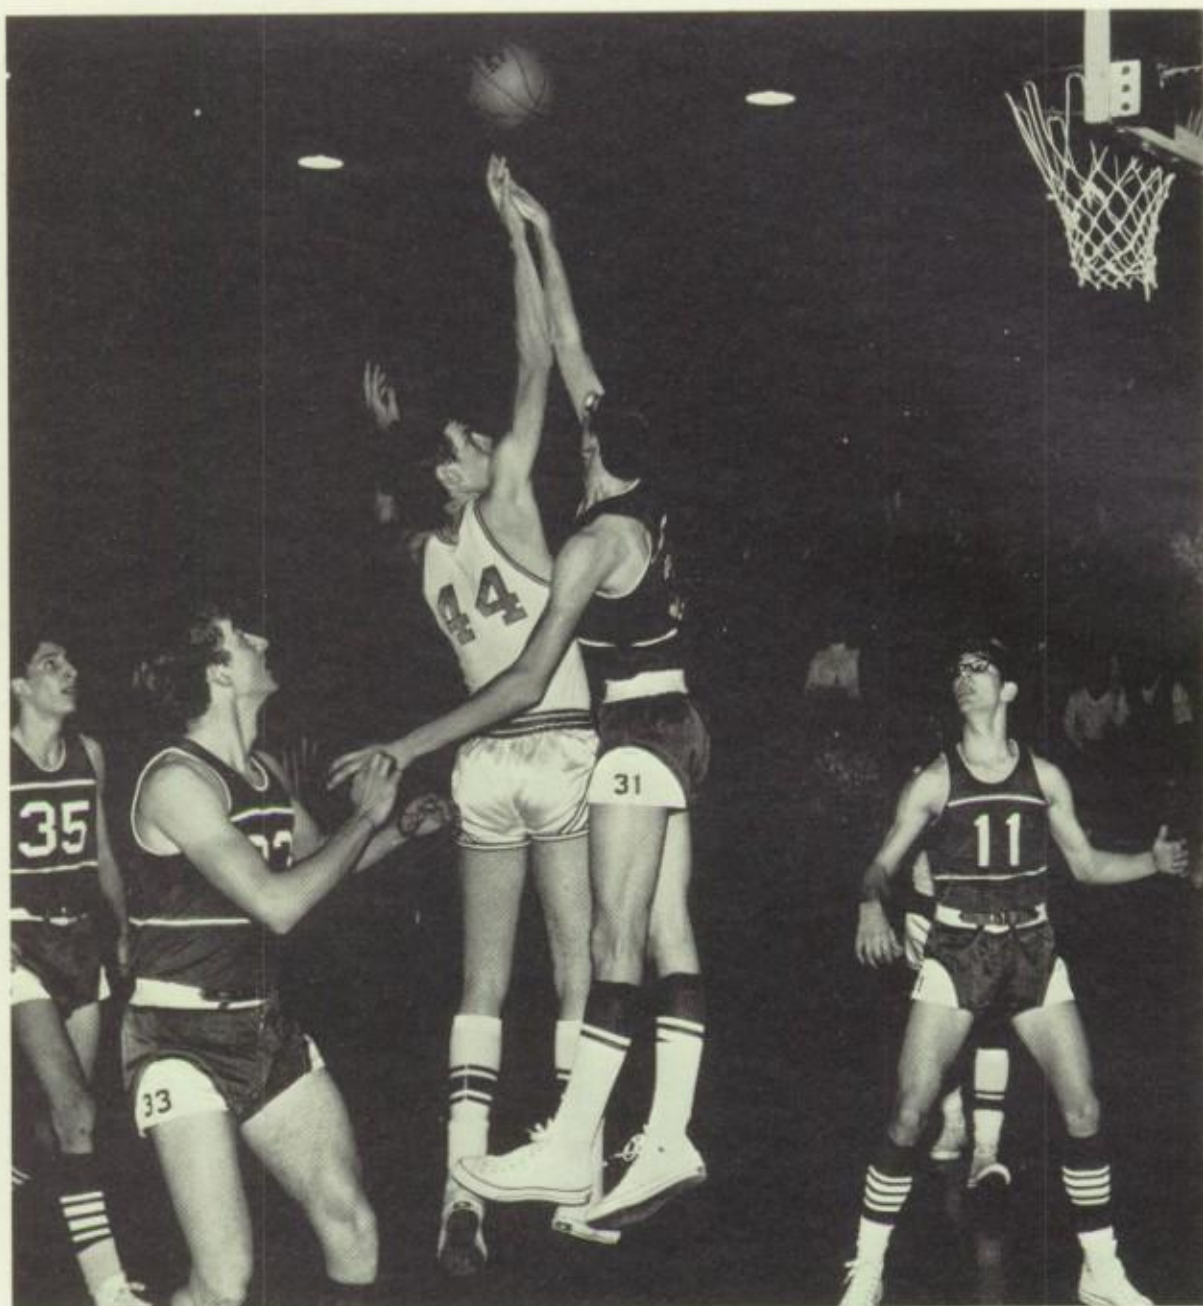

The opportunity for involvement is coupled with the chance to create a sense of accomplishment.

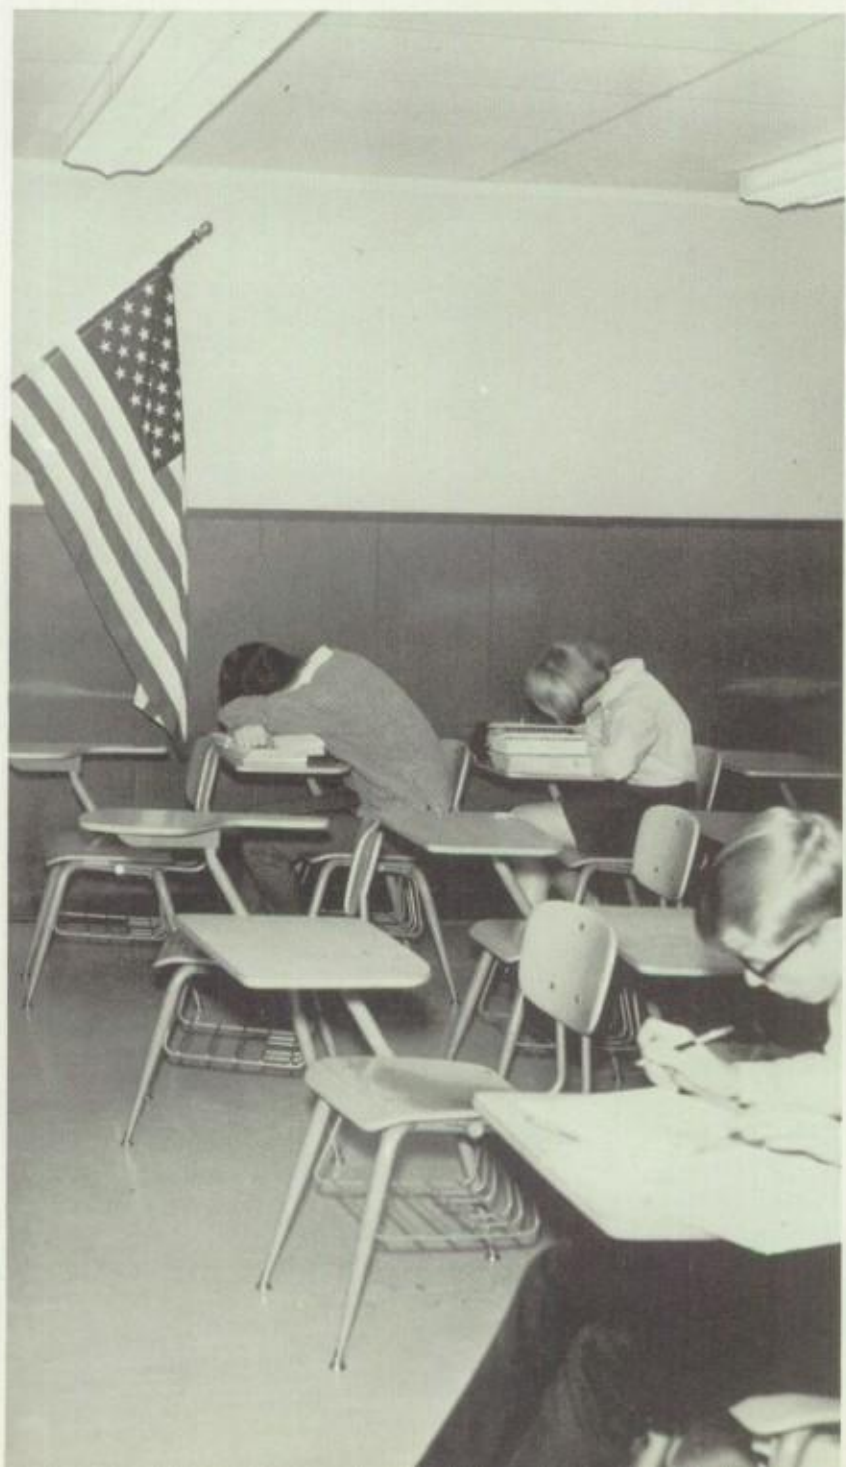

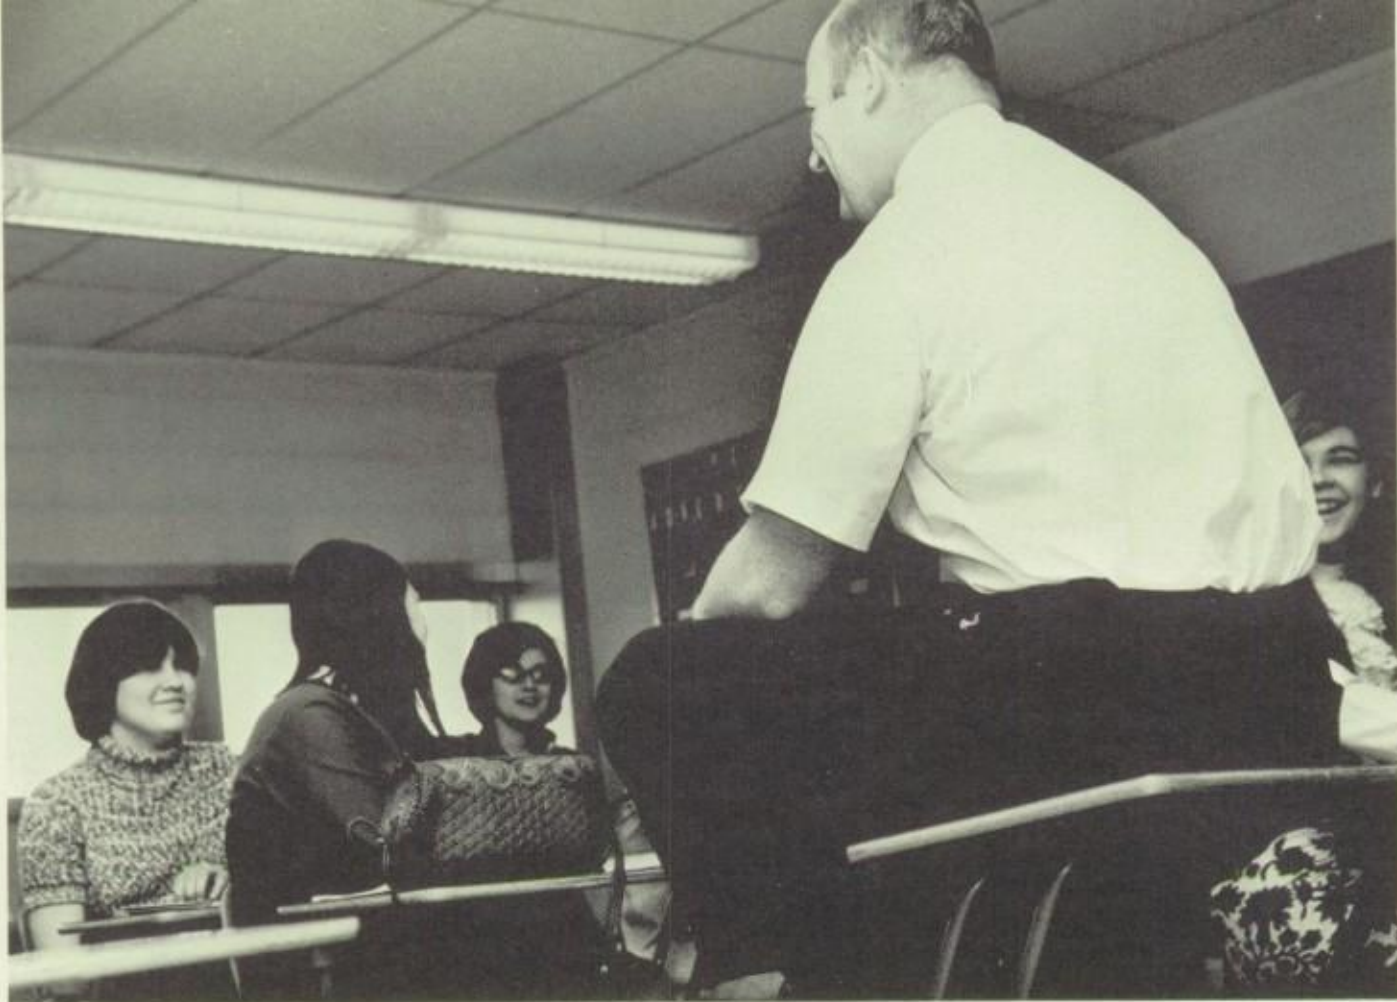

Colerain High School extends the opportunity to strive for academic achievements, for an athletic victory, for the recognition which will indicate tomorrow's success.

Athletic competition and scholastic routine offer the chance to acquire a sense of discipline.

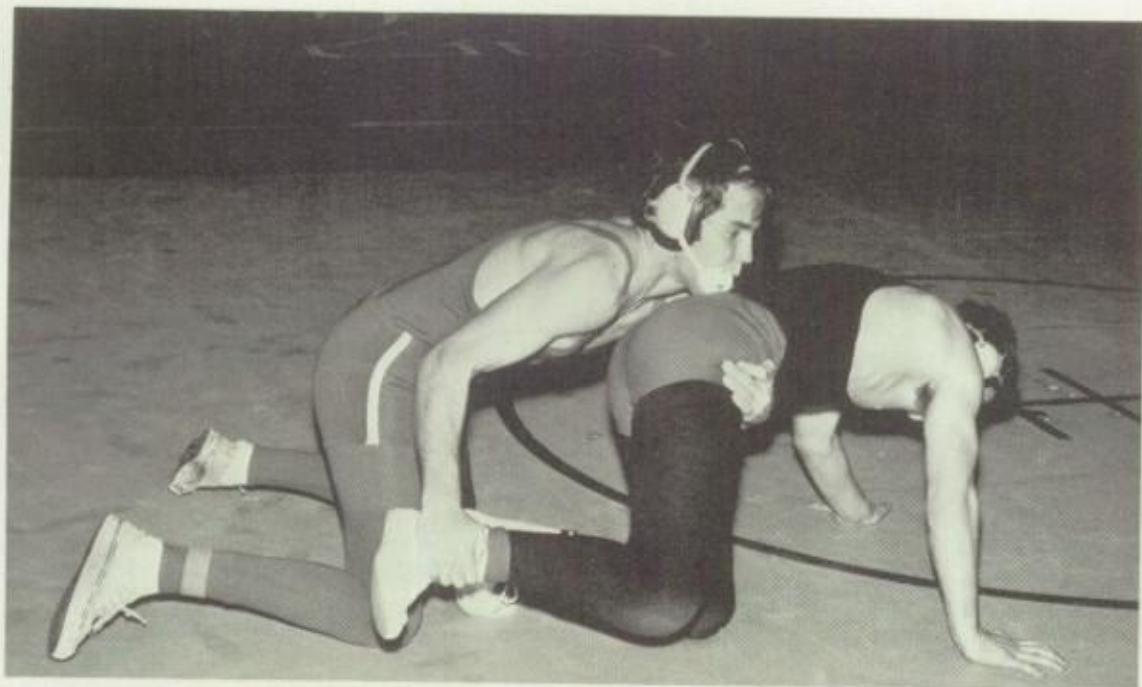

For the Cards, Colerain High School extends the opportunity to practice, to compete, to struggle—to triumph in victory, yet learn from the anguish of defeat.

For the sophomores, Colerain extends the opportunity to establish a place in the high school environment—to begin the final phase of their educational careers.

For the juniors, Colerain extends the opportunity to prepare—for college, for vocations, for the positions of leadership that they must soon undertake.

For the seniors, Colerain High School is that institution which will encourage and teach them to become useful members of society, while working at the same time to better it.

Academics

Colerain High School extends the opportunity to learn.

SUPERINTENDENT: MR. EDMOND HAMMOND

Mr. Edmond Hammond, Superintendent of the Northwest Local School District, and the School Board, led by President Raymond Hensley, worked together to better the educational system in Colerain's school district. Together they dedicated their services to the successful administration of the many schools in the Northwest area.

Mr. Hammond and the School Board provided the leadership needed to efficiently run the schools of which they were in charge.

Leaders better district education

SCHOOL BOARD James Benedict, Hubert Goetz, Raymond Hensley, Ruth Koehler, Edward Moeller, Joseph Presnell.

Leadership and guidance are imperative in the function of such a large school as Colerain. The man who supplied these factors was the principal, Mr. Kleeman. His fine abilities were displayed as he performed the duties required of his position, from the establishment of school policies to the oration at graduation ceremonies.

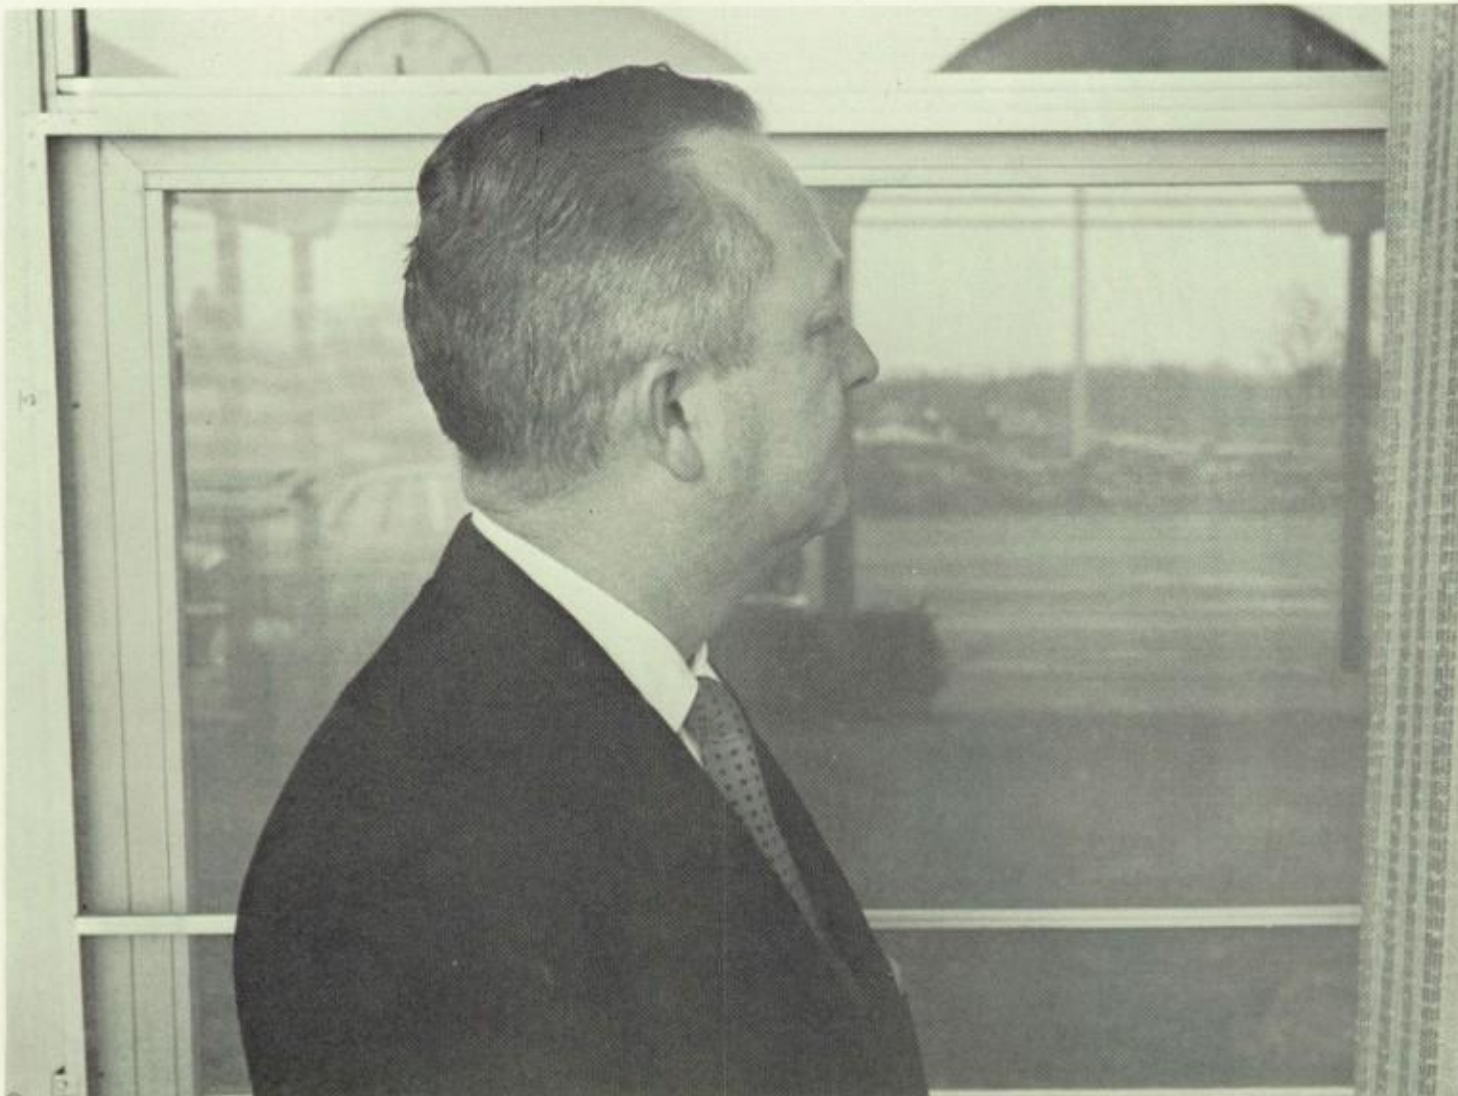

Being new to Colerain, he brought changes which aided in the school's growth. Mr. Kleeman's work in the 1968-69 school year greatly attributed to the fine reputation of Colerain High School.

The Spring Sports meet finds Mrs. Styles conversing with some participating students.

Mrs. Styles' final year as Colerain's Assistant Principal was marked by her usual dedication and enthusiasm. The interest she showed as she carried out the duties of her position gained for her the respect of the student body. She successfully handled all extracurricular activities, giving approval to the projects of the various organizations. She also patiently listened to the students' pros and cons concerning school policies. Her helpfulness and interest were greatly appreciated by all.

Dean upholds school's reputation

DEAN OF STUDENTS: MR. CHARLES KERN

The successful functioning of a school depends not only on the necessary facilities and a dedicated faculty and student body, but on the discipline required to maintain order. The maintaining of discipline was the duty of Mr. Charles Kern, Dean of Students. He supplied and enforced the rules of conduct which were a vital part of Colerain life. His dedicated work played a great part in creating the fine reputation which was Colerain's.

Counselors add new

Ric Matre greets the welcome advice of Mr. Hacker.

Problems, be they personal or academic, can not always be solved with the help of friends or teachers. Problem-solving was one of the main responsibilities of Colerain's four, dedicated counselors. Their diligence and perseverance combined to produce an effective type of counseling service.

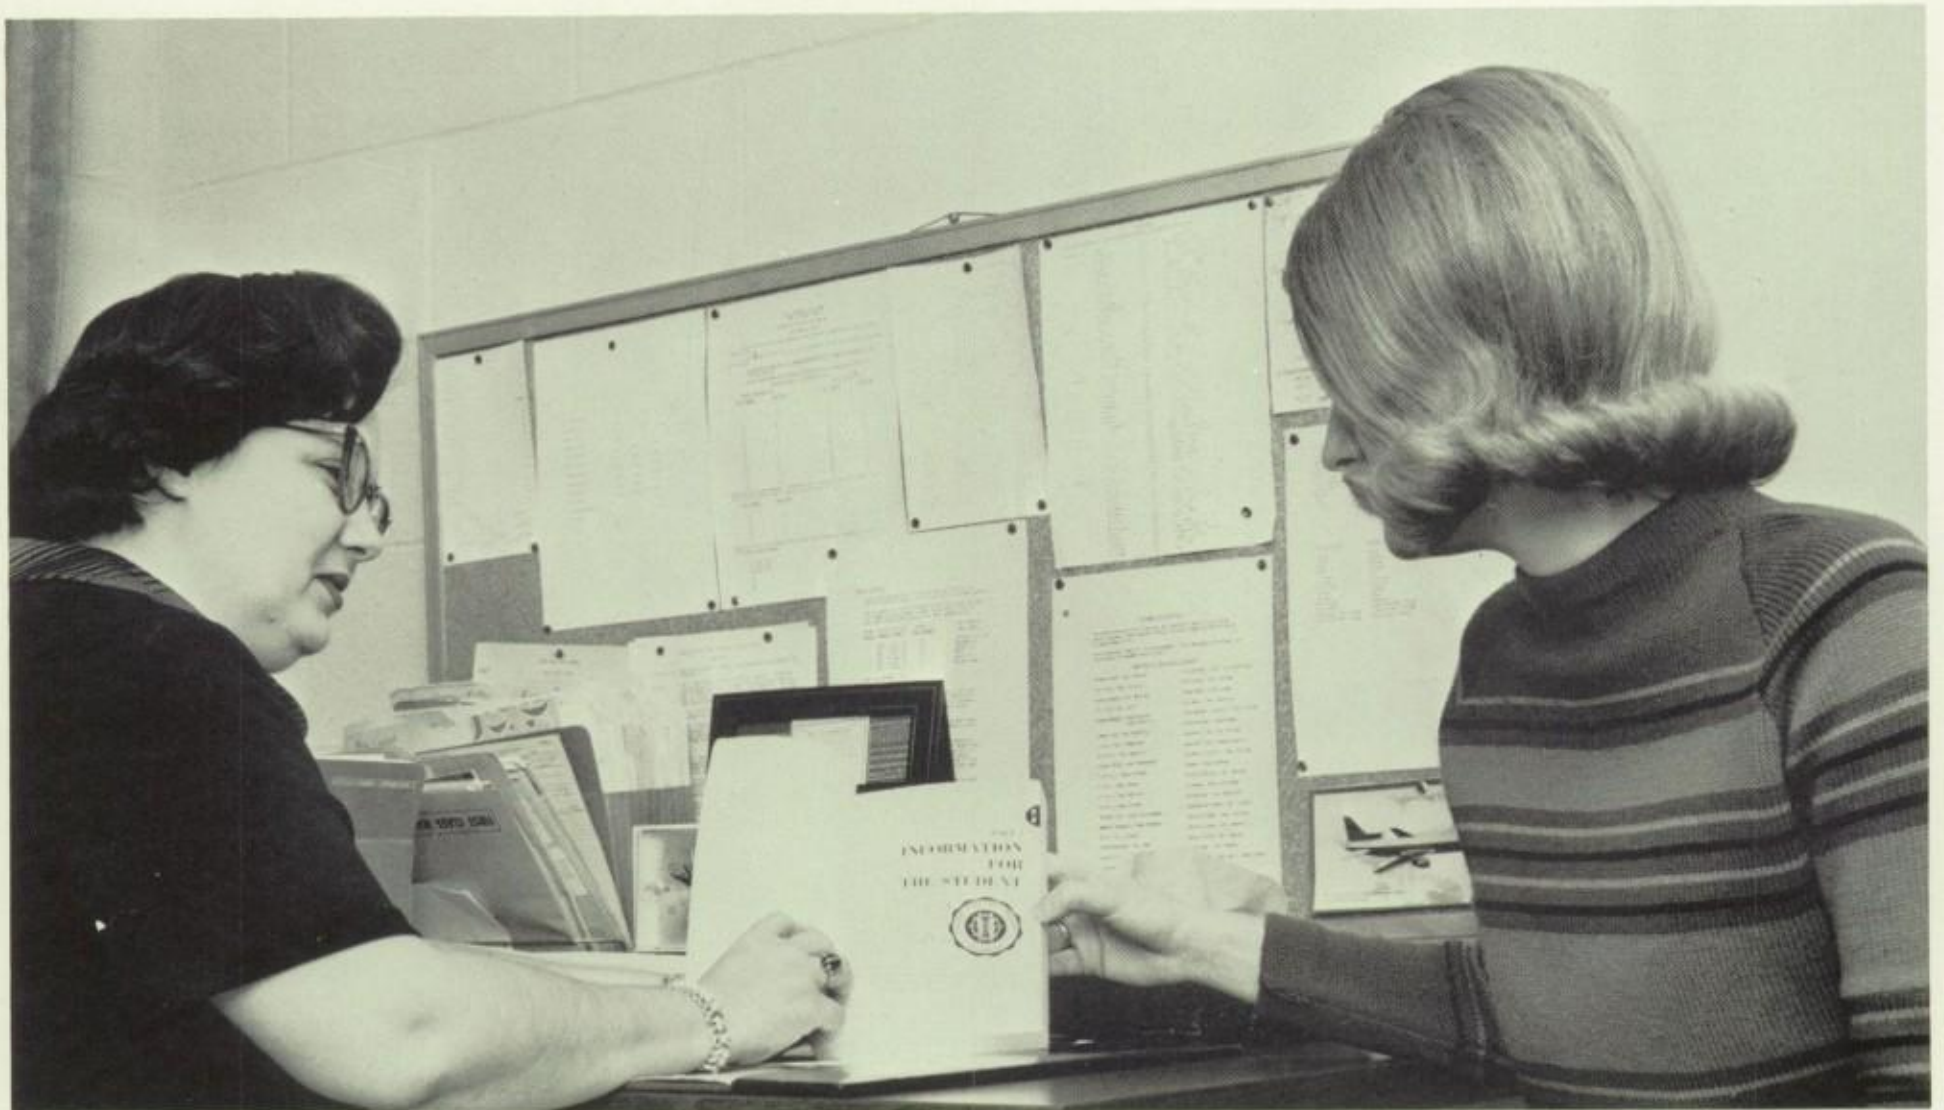

Mr. Hacker and Miss Cooke bore a fantastic burden as senior counselors, for they aided the students in those very important college and vocational considerations. Underclassmen relied on Mr. Hust and Miss Thomas for the advice needed in their years of growth within the academic community. The pride the counselors took in their work indicated their desire to aid the student body.

Mr. Hust wisely points out all approaches to the solution of a student's problem.

Mr. Hanning's "Beat Goes On."

A large high school often has the appearance of a factory in motion, lacking the personal element required. The role of the teacher, therefore, is to instruct the class as a whole, but at the same time, to grant the individual student the attention and interest he requires.

Colerain's teachers did not fall short of this duty for which they had been selected. These teachers continually made available both the advice and the experience which students need as they proceed through life.

The faculty never objected to inconvenience caused by late hours for extra help. The leadership of their teachers provided the incentive the students needed for their personal success.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR: MR. CLINTON YERKES

The maintaining of order in a large public school is vital, not only in terms of discipline but in the overall scholastic program. The secretaries were in large part responsible for the smooth operation of the main and guidance offices. Their hard work was greatly appreciated by the entire administration.

In another, but equally important, department, Mr. Yerkes was in charge of bringing order to Colerain's athletic program. His job, to schedule the school's athletic events, was handled excellently.

Both the secretaries and Mr. Yerkes were indispensable to the management of Colerain.

SCHOOL NURSE: MRS. JACOBS

The successful management of a school depends upon teamwork and organization on the part of both the student body and the staff. A very important part of the Colerain staff was the cafeteria workers. Each day these women gave their time and talents to the preparation of meals for nearly 2000 students.

Another important staff member was the nurse, Mrs. Jacobs. Her medical assistance was appreciated throughout the year.

The generous efforts of these people aided in keeping school and administration running smoothly.

Lynn Eiler and Lorre Weidlich

1969 Valedictorian and Salutatorian

The valedictorian and salutatorian of 1969 were Lynn Eiler and Lorre Weidlich. Lynn graduated with a 3.97 average out of a possible 4.0. Lorre achieved a 3.92 average. They were traditionally honored at the Commencement ceremonies, during which they each delivered excellent addresses.

Both students were to be commended for receiving the highest honor which Colerain could bestow.

Honor Society represents academic ideal

The sixteen members of Honor Society, supervised by Mrs. Pack, comprised the most exclusive club at Colerain. Chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, service, and character, they represented the school's academic ideal.

As a service to Colerain, the Honor Society members devoted many hours to tutoring fellow students in various subjects.

At monthly dinner meetings, held at the members' homes, the Honor Society invited guest speakers, whose topics were varied and informative.

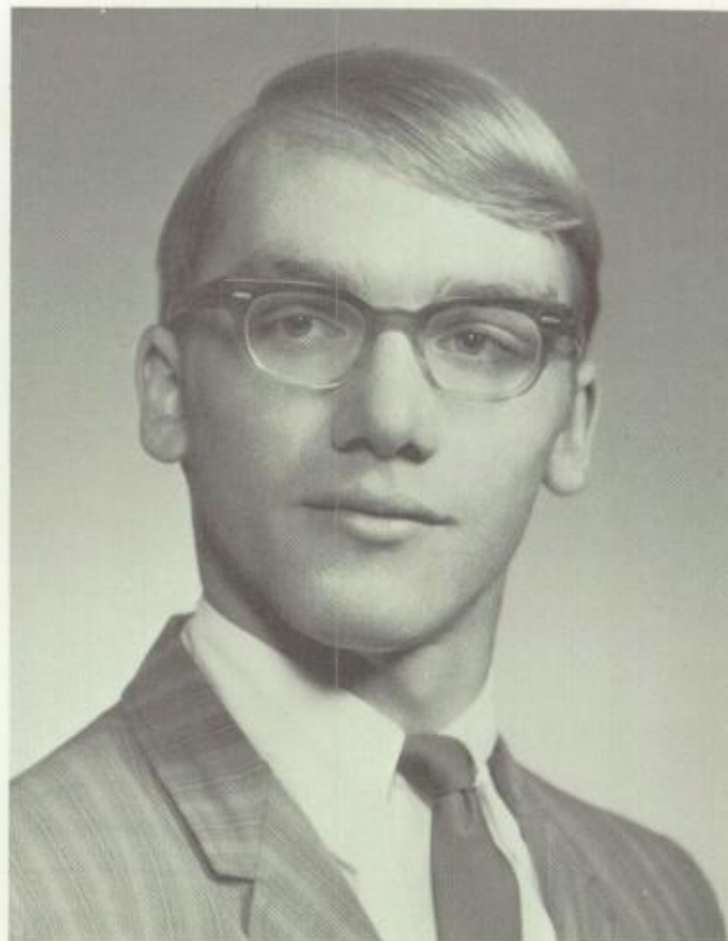

The final activity of the year was the selection of eight new members, who were honored at a breakfast, during which they were introduced to the senior members and acquainted with their responsibilities as members of the club.

National Merit scholars honor CHS

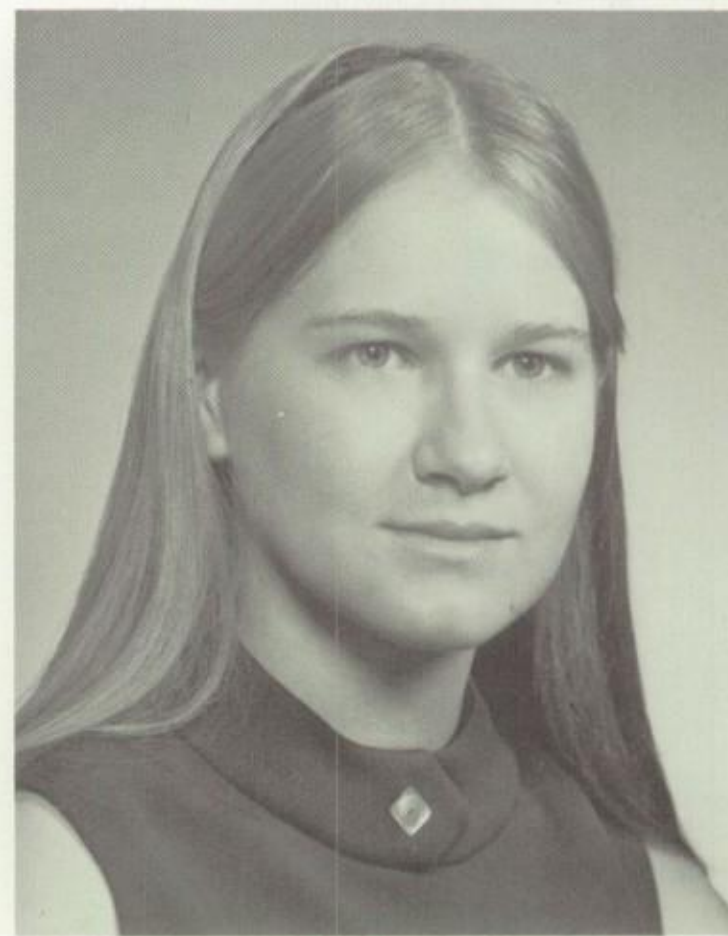

In 1969, four Colerain seniors were honored by being named National Merit Finalists. James Coon, Lynn Eiler, Steven Horn, and Lorre Weidlich advanced to National finalist standing as a result of their taking the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, an examination offered to secondary school students wishing to compete for Merit Scholarships. This accomplishment brought distinction to the students themselves and honor to their school.

It's Academic team attempts scholastic success

For the past several years Colerain has participated in the television program, It's Academic. This program takes top scholars from area high schools and gives them opportunity to compete academically with other schools. It operates on an elimination basis whereby the highest scoring team can compete further.

Colerain's It's Academic team, under the guidance of Mr. Robert Browning, consisted of Mark

Rohlfer, Jim Coon, and Mike Parrett. The competitors were Erlanger Lloyd and Walnut Hills High Schools.

Colerain's trio was eliminated during the first program, losing to Walnut Hills and tying with Erlanger Lloyd for second place. Nevertheless, they were to be commended for their fine effort and display of academic teamwork.

SCIENCE FAIR WINNERS: M. Geppert, R. Boner, R. Purtell, M. Lively, R. Sprague, V. Fangman, S. Huber.

Organized by Science Club, under the direction of Mr. Dicken, the 1969 Science Fair was a great success. Projects were entered in the categories of: Botany, Electronics, Zoology, Earth/Space Science, Physics, Mathematics, and Chemistry.

A formal reception was held after the Fair, during which the winners were honored. After an interesting program, Mark Lively was announced as the 1969 Grand Award Winner. He was awarded a trophy and a Savings Bond for his project, "Demonstration Binary Computer," in the Electronics division.

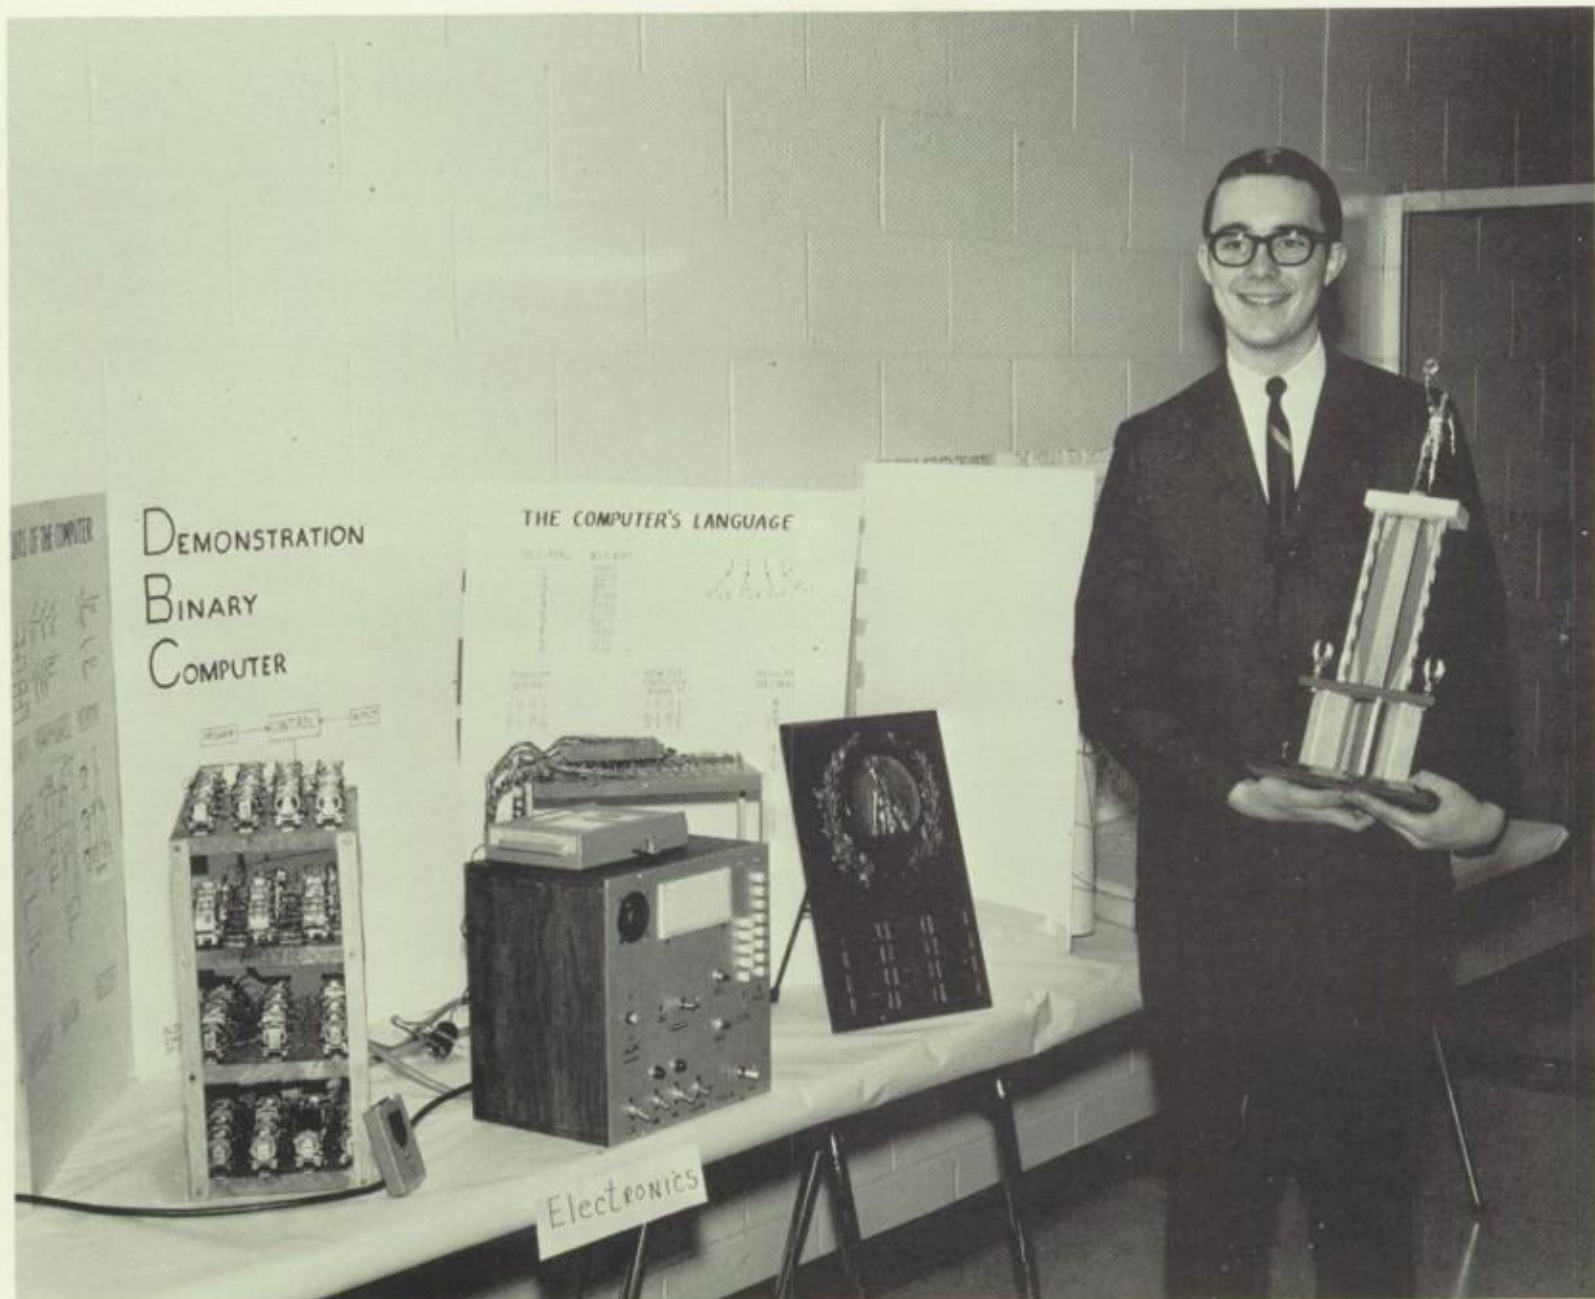

The Science Fair proved to be an excellent opportunity for amateur scientists to receive recognition for their scientific endeavors.

Mr. Warren Dicken prepares to announce the Grand Award Winner at the reception.

Democracy through student leadership

President of Student Council, Keith Hammitt, addresses the student body.

Under the capable leadership of President Keith Hammitt and advisor Mrs. Styles, Student Council engaged in a very busy and worthwhile year of activities.

The 1969 Student Council sponsored and attended a Leadership Workshop, which offered new ideas on club organization to club officers and interested students, and served as a model for other area high schools.

Student Council members also presided over the voting procedures, and sponsored Sophomore Orientation and an open forum meeting which all school members were invited to attend.

The accomplishments of Student Council were a credit to its members and to those whom it represented, the Colerain student body.

PRESIDENTS' COUNCIL: FIRST ROW: D. Wissinger, M. Hoberg, J. Pohlar, B. Woodrum, K. Hammitt, V. Schaefer, B. Rapping, C. Lynch, L. Dienesch, M. Koch. SECOND ROW: M. Beckham, P. Bachman, R. Dirk, J. Presidents' Council encourages co-operation

Presidents' Council, consisting of the presidents of all the clubs at Colerain, was instrumental in coordinating the activities of these clubs. The club provided the opportunity for the presidents to exchange ideas and to encourage co-operation in club sponsored functions. The Presidents' Council was also responsible for the beautiful decoration of the building during the Christmas season.

President, Larry Hereth, conducts a Presidents' Council meeting.

CHS spirit lives through "C"-Club's efforts

Basketball Homecoming is a product of "C"-Club members.

The members of "C"-Club, under the supervision of Mr. Hill, were in large part responsible for the spirit which was in evidence at Colerain's athletic events. Membership was open to anyone who had earned a letter in athletics, scholastics, and extracurricular activities.

The successes of Football and Basketball Homecomings were due to the efforts of this club. The Spring Sports Festival was also a "C"-Club undertaking. Due to the work and enthusiasm of "C"-Club, school spirit received a great boost at Colerain.

PEP CLUB: FIRST ROW: C. Bezold, K. Kleinschmidt, R. Edwards, M. Beckham, D. Formes, L. Dienesch, P. Kaufmann. SECOND ROW: C. Solzsmon, H. Kiefel, L. Hayes, C. Burkart, S. Wright, S. Ashley, A. Pep Club encourages growth of spirit

Cheerleaders are indicative of Pep Club's purpose.

The "Cardinal Spirit" was bolstered considerably with the reviving of Pep Club at Colerain. The purpose of the organization was to encourage school spirit at pep assemblies and athletic events. The cheerleaders were particularly active in this campaign. Being newly formed, Pep Club had some difficulty getting "off the ground," but would return in full force with the Colerain "Peppers" in 1970.

Hall Monitors recognize importance of discipline

Larry Hereth prepares a hall pass as a part of his daily routine.

Under the new direction of Mr. Ortlieb, the Hall Monitors provided the necessary enforcement of student rules in the halls. The main responsibility of Hall Monitors was to remind the students of the importance of discipline in a large public school. This student-originated organization aided the administration in the maintaining of order in the halls while school was in session.

World Affairs discusses current issues

A world map serves as an aid during a World Affairs meeting.

World Affairs Club members sought to increase their knowledge of the world in which they live. Their meetings focused on discussing current international events, and debating how the world's situations and crises could be improved. As a result of their involvement in World Affairs, the members were able to better understand present day society and to cope with the imperfections of the modern world.

CARDINAL staff records Colerain activity

The 1969 CARDINAL Staff had, as every staff before it, a double job: to create a yearbook for the students who attended Colerain during the 1969 school year, and to uphold the tradition of recording another year in the school's history. With these purposes in mind, the Annual Staff members contributed their creative abilities to the publication of the CARDINAL.

Cropping pictures, making layouts, and writing copy and headlines were some of the duties of the staff members. 1969's editor, Donna Wissinger, instructed the group with the help and direction of their advisor, Mr. Joseph Epplen.

Each day the staff met and worked together to produce a CARDINAL that vividly reflected life at Colerain.

QUILL STAFF: SITTING: A. Kays, D. Lauck, B. Woodrum, S. Moon, W. Ronsheim. STANDING: K. Faeth, P. Fite, R. Knox, M. Ewing, J. Tolos, J. Bernhardt, C. Lynch, D. Wissinger.

Journalists create superior publication

Brenda Woodrum types diligently to help meet a deadline.

Sixteen journalism students, under the direction of faculty advisor Miss Murphy, made the 1969 Quill one of the best in Colerain's history.

For the first time, the Quill was entered in journalism competition with other schools throughout the Miami Valley. The paper received a third place in photography and a second place in feature writing.

Co-Editors, Debbi Lauck and Karen Faeth, were to be commended for the excellent job they did in coordinating the 1969 Quill.

Business Editor, Patty Fite, checks on the ads for an edition of the Quill.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB: D. Ries, D. Schwiegeraht, R. Phillips, N. Phelps, T. Gutzwiller.

Industrial Arts applies knowledge

A plan for a hall display captures the attention of Industrial Arts Club members.

A new club, designed to serve the school by setting up displays, fixing broken school materials, and making various props, was organized into Industrial Arts Club, headed by Mr. Riefski. The prime purpose of the club was to have members put into practice those skills that had been learned through the various industrial arts classes that they had taken. Students who participated in this club found the experience worthwhile, and the school in general benefited from their services.

Office assistants aid administration

Anna Raptas works in the office during her free period.

The office assistants, who donated their free school time to assist the secretaries, were a very valuable group of girls. By answering the phone, sorting mail, running errands, and working behind the desk, they aided in the smooth operation of Colerain's busy office. Their help was appreciated by the secretaries and the entire administration.

Phyllis Bachman and Mr. Gerald Anderson present awards at the Science Fair.

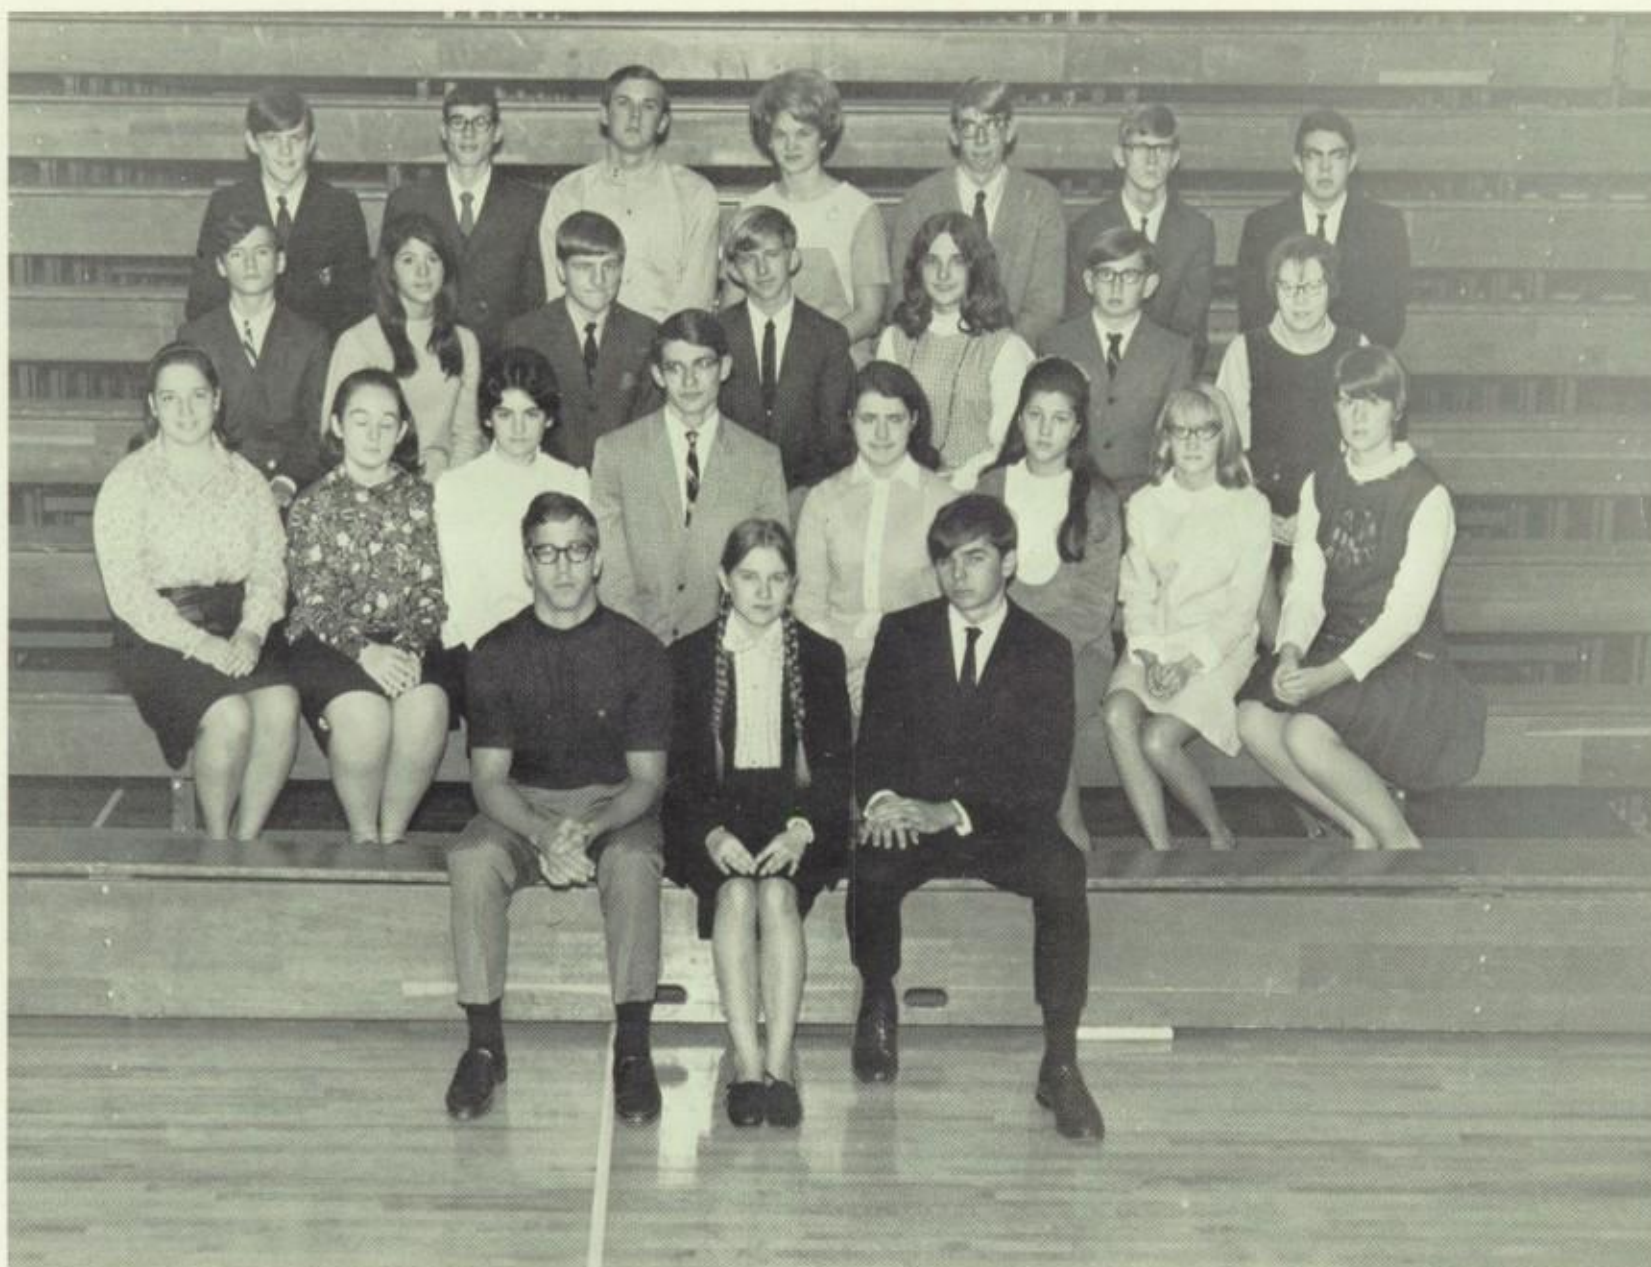

Science Club, sponsored by Mr. Dicken, gave interested students an opportunity to explore fields of science in more depth than they could acquire in the classroom. During the year, the club members met to study and discuss science and its role in modern life.

The most extensive project the club undertook was the organization of the annual Science Fair and Reception. The members spent many hours working to produce a highly successful Fair, which greatly aided the participants in their understanding of modern science.

Math Club members watch as Mr. Carver solves a problem.

The members of Math Club, aided by Mr. Carver, strove to better their understanding of mathematics through discussions of the many fields of this subject, and by attempting to solve various problems during their meetings. Their participation in Math Club benefited the students, both in the classroom and in their independent study of this complex science.

Latin Club strikes classic pose

Mrs. Pack addresses consuls and senators at the Latin banquet.

The Latin language—or "lingua Latina," as it is also known—served as a spring board to members of Latin Club in obtaining a firmer command of their own English vocabulary. The primary concern of the club itself was to make the language as enjoyable as it is functional, and this was accomplished readily at the meetings where modern games were cleverly adapted to Latin standards. The annual culmination of these meetings was the election of officers at a Roman banquet which all members endeavored to make as authentic as possible. Thus Latin Club retained a bit of classic Rome in every phase of its activity.

French Club aids in language understanding

French Club members work to complete their feather flowers.

Under the direction of Mrs. Montgomery, French Club members better educated themselves in the French language and customs. Films, guest speakers and special projects added interest to learning. One of the club's special projects was the sale of feather flowers. French Club members put forth their time and talents to the production of the flowers, which were sold to the student body. The knowledge gained through their projects and meetings aided French Club members in their understanding of this Romance language.

Spanish Club combines projects and learning

Mrs. Whitaker and three Spanish Club members stay after a regular meeting to outline plans for next year.

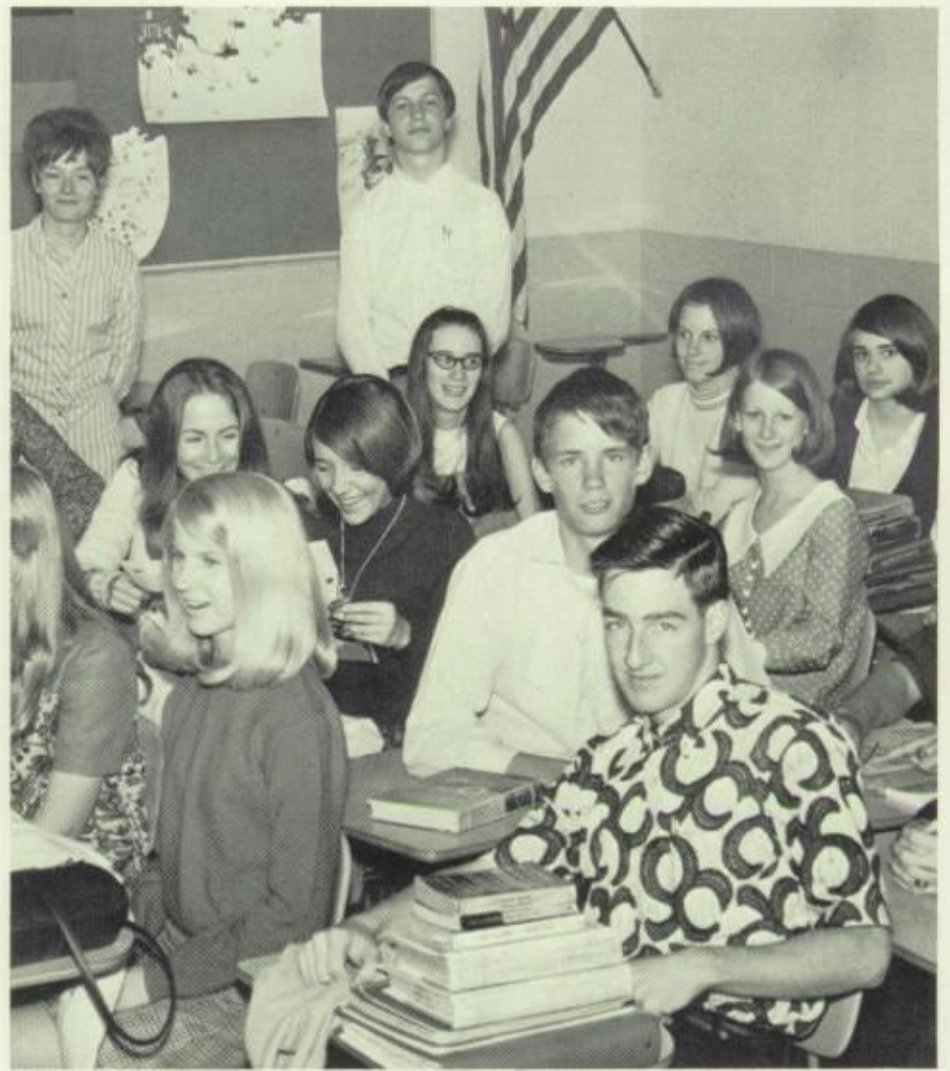

The enrollment of several outstanding members into the Spanish Honor Society, and the sending of a member of Spanish Club to Mexico for the summer were the events that highlighted Spanish Club's 1969 activities. Taking the lead of the sponsor, Mrs. Whitaker, the club members displayed a tremendous amount of energy in making everything they did worthwhile. The members of the club could take pride in the projects which they undertook, and their better understanding of the Spanish Language which resulted from their Spanish Club activities.

German Club explores culture and customs

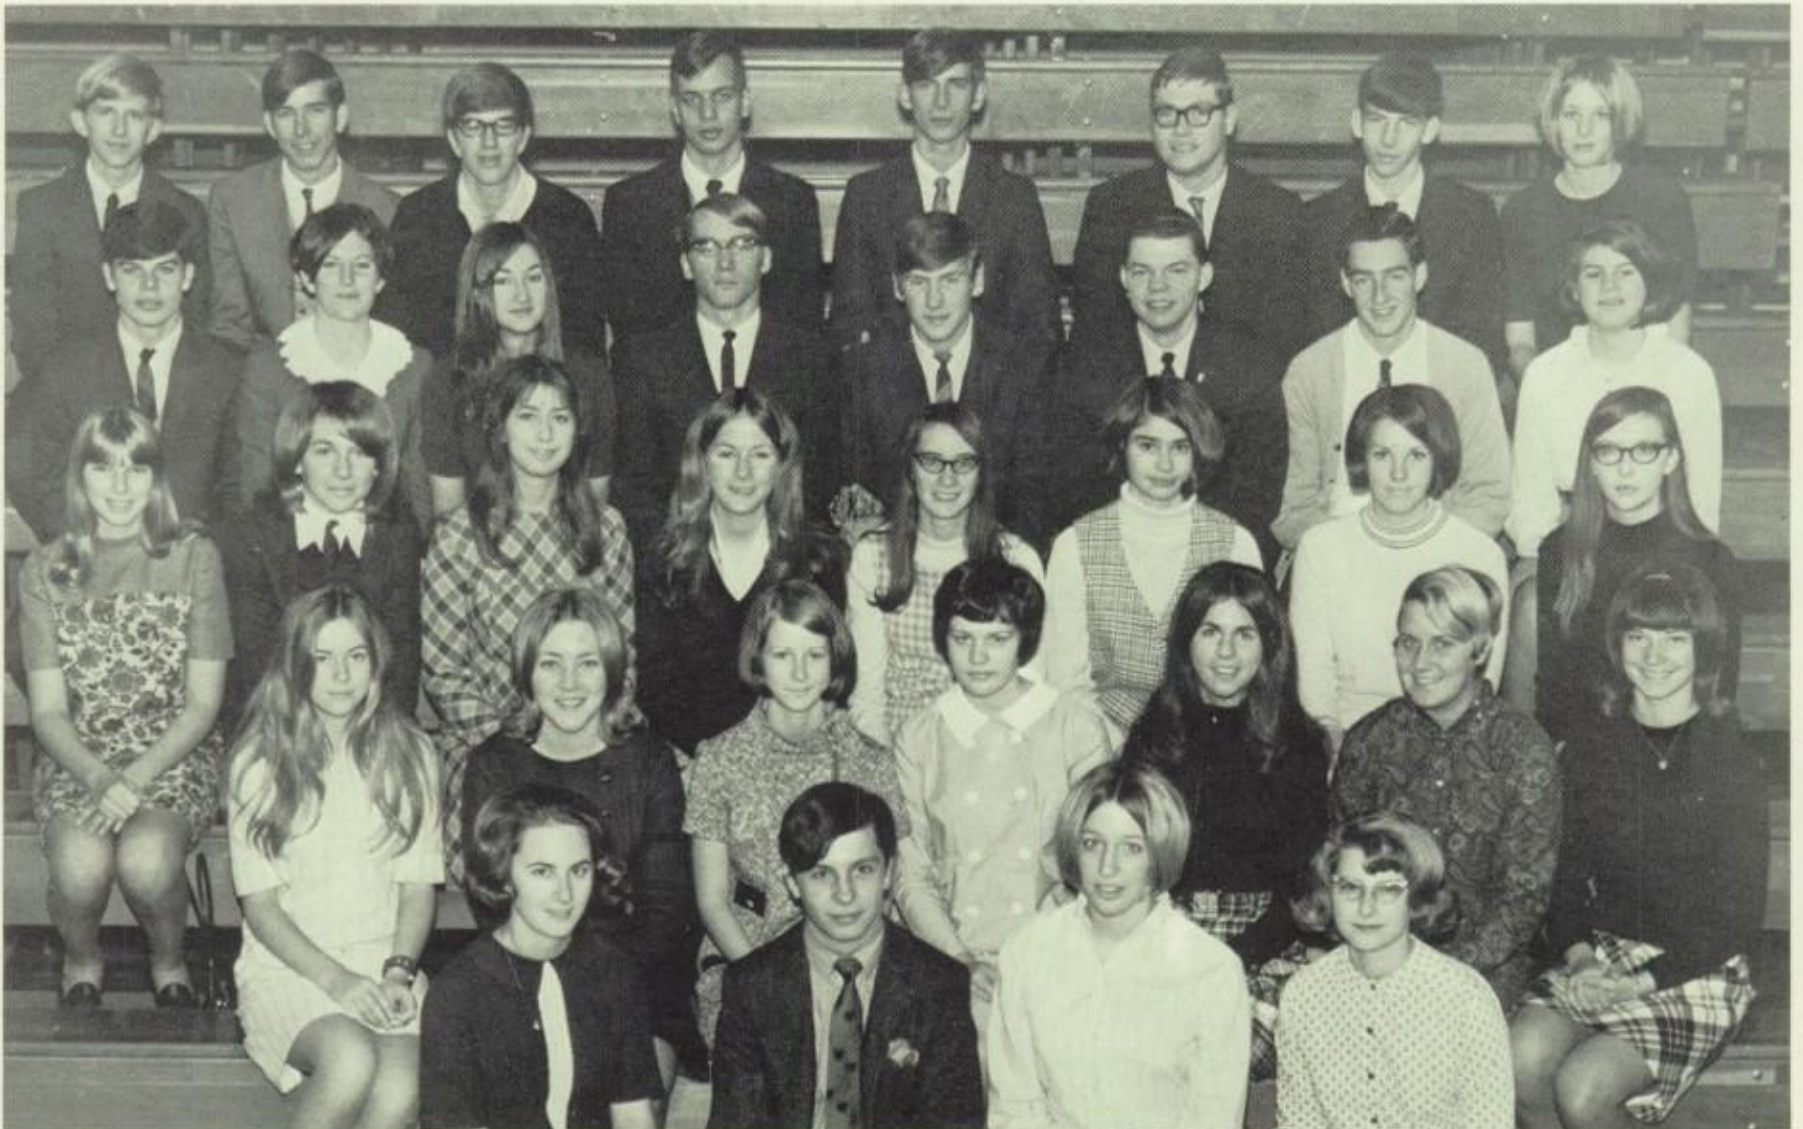

Many students who studied German in the classroom added to their knowledge of the language by participating in German Club, sponsored by Mrs. Wullenweber. Through participation in this club, students were able to better understand German and to better appreciate the history of the language.

The German Club concentrated primarily on the culture and customs of the German people. These discussions were interspersed with an exposure to German literature, which made German Club an educational as well as enjoyable organization.

Career insights for volunteers

Club members examine the charms awarded for participation in Health Careers.

Health Careers, sponsored by Miss Stankus, prepared interested students for professions in medicine. The club visited the Shrine's Burn Institute during January, where they learned about the care and treatment of patients who have suffered burns. They also visited the Kettering Lab during the latter part of the year.

The club also sponsored several money-making projects, one of which was the selling of Valentine candy on Valentine's Day.

Karen Faeth aids one of her students during a teaching assignment.

Many members of the student body who aspired to be teachers joined F.T.A. Through this organization, members were given a practical insight into the various aspects of the educators' world. This insight was achieved by actual teaching assignments on the elementary level, guest speakers, and a tea with the high school faculty.

Mrs. Mefford's sponsorship instilled the members with the thrust necessary for realization of their teaching goals.

Domestic skills developed through FHA participation

Sheila Shadoan patiently puts the finishing touches on her Home Economics project.

Future Homemakers of America is an organization of girls interested in becoming good wives and homemakers. Under the guidance of Mrs. Virginia Brown, the girls engaged in many activities during the 1968-69 school year. They sponsored a baking contest, and held a fashion show in which prizes were awarded. They also worked on projects to help others in the community. At Halloween they collected money for UNICEF, and made stockings during the Christmas season for the elderly at the Mt. Healthy Christian Nursing Home. The contributions of these girls showed their desire to develop the skills necessary to become good homemakers of the future.

Service of Tejas benefits others

Tejas members assemble after school for an important meeting.

The members of Tejas, under the direction of Miss Graham, established as the club's purpose the promotion of fellowship among girls and the betterment of the community through service. Their various projects throughout the school year were aimed toward fulfilling that purpose. At the end of the year, the girls could know the gratitude of the community and the satisfaction which comes from serving others.

F.B.L.A.: functional and educational

F.B.L.A. members outline their plans for the May convention.

Sharon Harris discusses a point at a meeting.

Attendance at the all-Ohio F.B.L.A. convention and the capturing of many awards were the main events of a very active year on the part of F.B.L.A. members. Miss Coffman's group made their presence known by their active involvement in various school functions during the school year. Sponsoring a dance, building a float for Football Homecoming, and supplying members for auditorium assemblies to serve as ushers and usherettes, represented a part of the club's accomplishments.

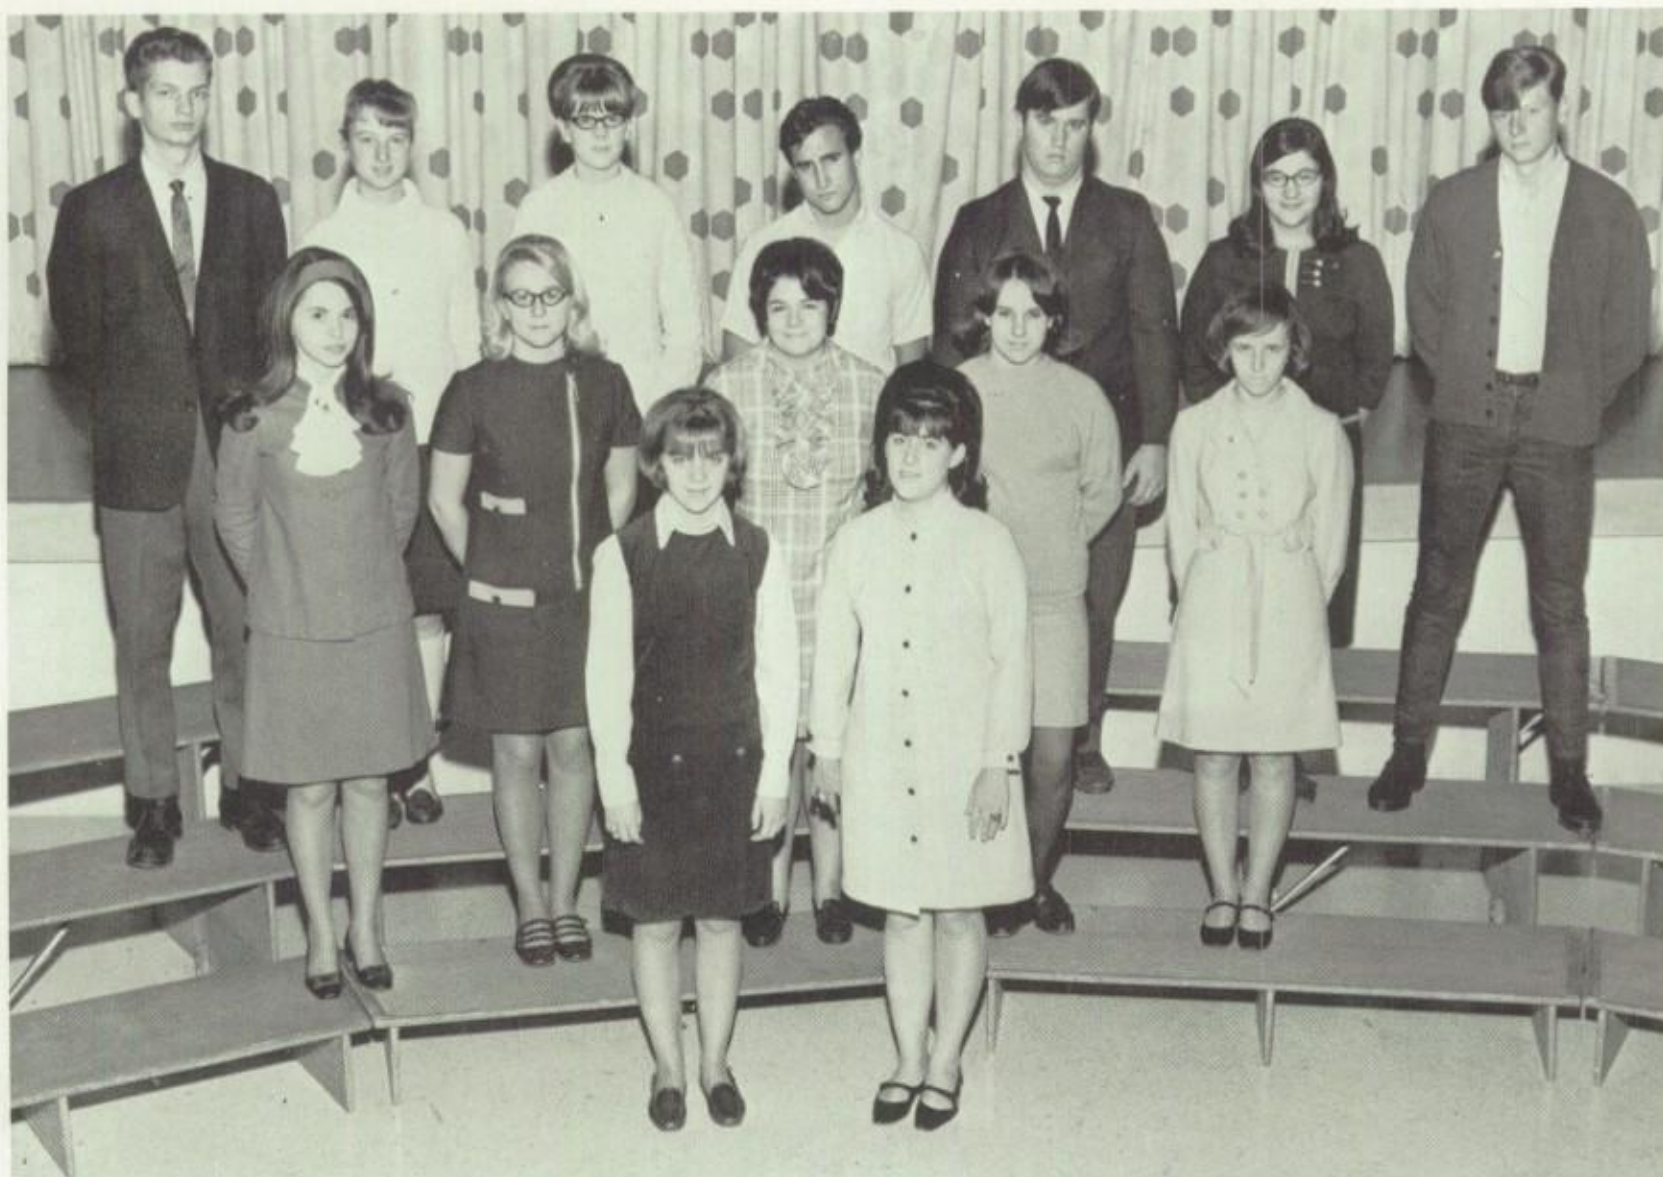

There were also their monthly meetings, designed to acquaint the students with the workings of American business. This purpose made F.B.L.A. a very educational as well as functional club.

DISTRICT HONOR WINNERS: A. Grauvogel, P. Leatherman, D. Bray, S. Shadoan.

DECA and COE are two of Colerain's most important organizations in helping students gain experience needed in the world of business. They are cooperative programs which instruct and train students interested in careers in marketing and distribution. DECA and COE students attend morning classes and gain on-the-job training while working afternoons.

During the year, eleven Colerain Distributive Education students participated in competitive District activities with nine other schools. Winners of these district activities competed again for state honors in the State Leadership Conference held March 28th, 29th, and 30th in Columbus, Ohio.

In September, Colerain held a "get acquainted" breakfast for new COE members. Several students attended a regional conference at the Imperial House Motel in the fall. Students in Cooperative Office Education find part-time jobs in business offices, gaining experience for future employment.

LITERARY GUILD: FIRST ROW: L. Weidlich, J. Chace, C. Muehlenhard. SECOND ROW: M. Graf, B. Weisbrod, C. Allen, N. Lively. THIRD ROW: A. Cavanaugh, C. Conley, M. Winkle, G. Geers, G. Sappe, S. Derfus. FOURTH ROW: J. Thie, B. Smith, R. Lamb, C. Steele, K. Detzel, P. Green.

Literary Guild, under the direction of Mrs. Davis, gave students interested in literature an opportunity to meet once a month to discuss various books and their authors. Many meetings also were spent in reading and evaluating works submitted by Colerain students for the annual publication of "Serendipity." This booklet, composed of the students' poems, short stories, and art work, was printed by the industrial arts department and sold to the student body.

"Serendipity" enabled its authors to see their work in print, while the students of Colerain could appreciate the creative talents of their peers.

Mark Romer helps Debbie Russell maintain an orderly periodical room.

Those teachers and students who took advantage of the book fair or of the school library found the members or the work of the Student Library Assistants very much in evidence. The responsibilities of working the check-out desk in the library, shelving and keeping books in order, and issuing periodicals and magazines were shared by the Library Assistants.

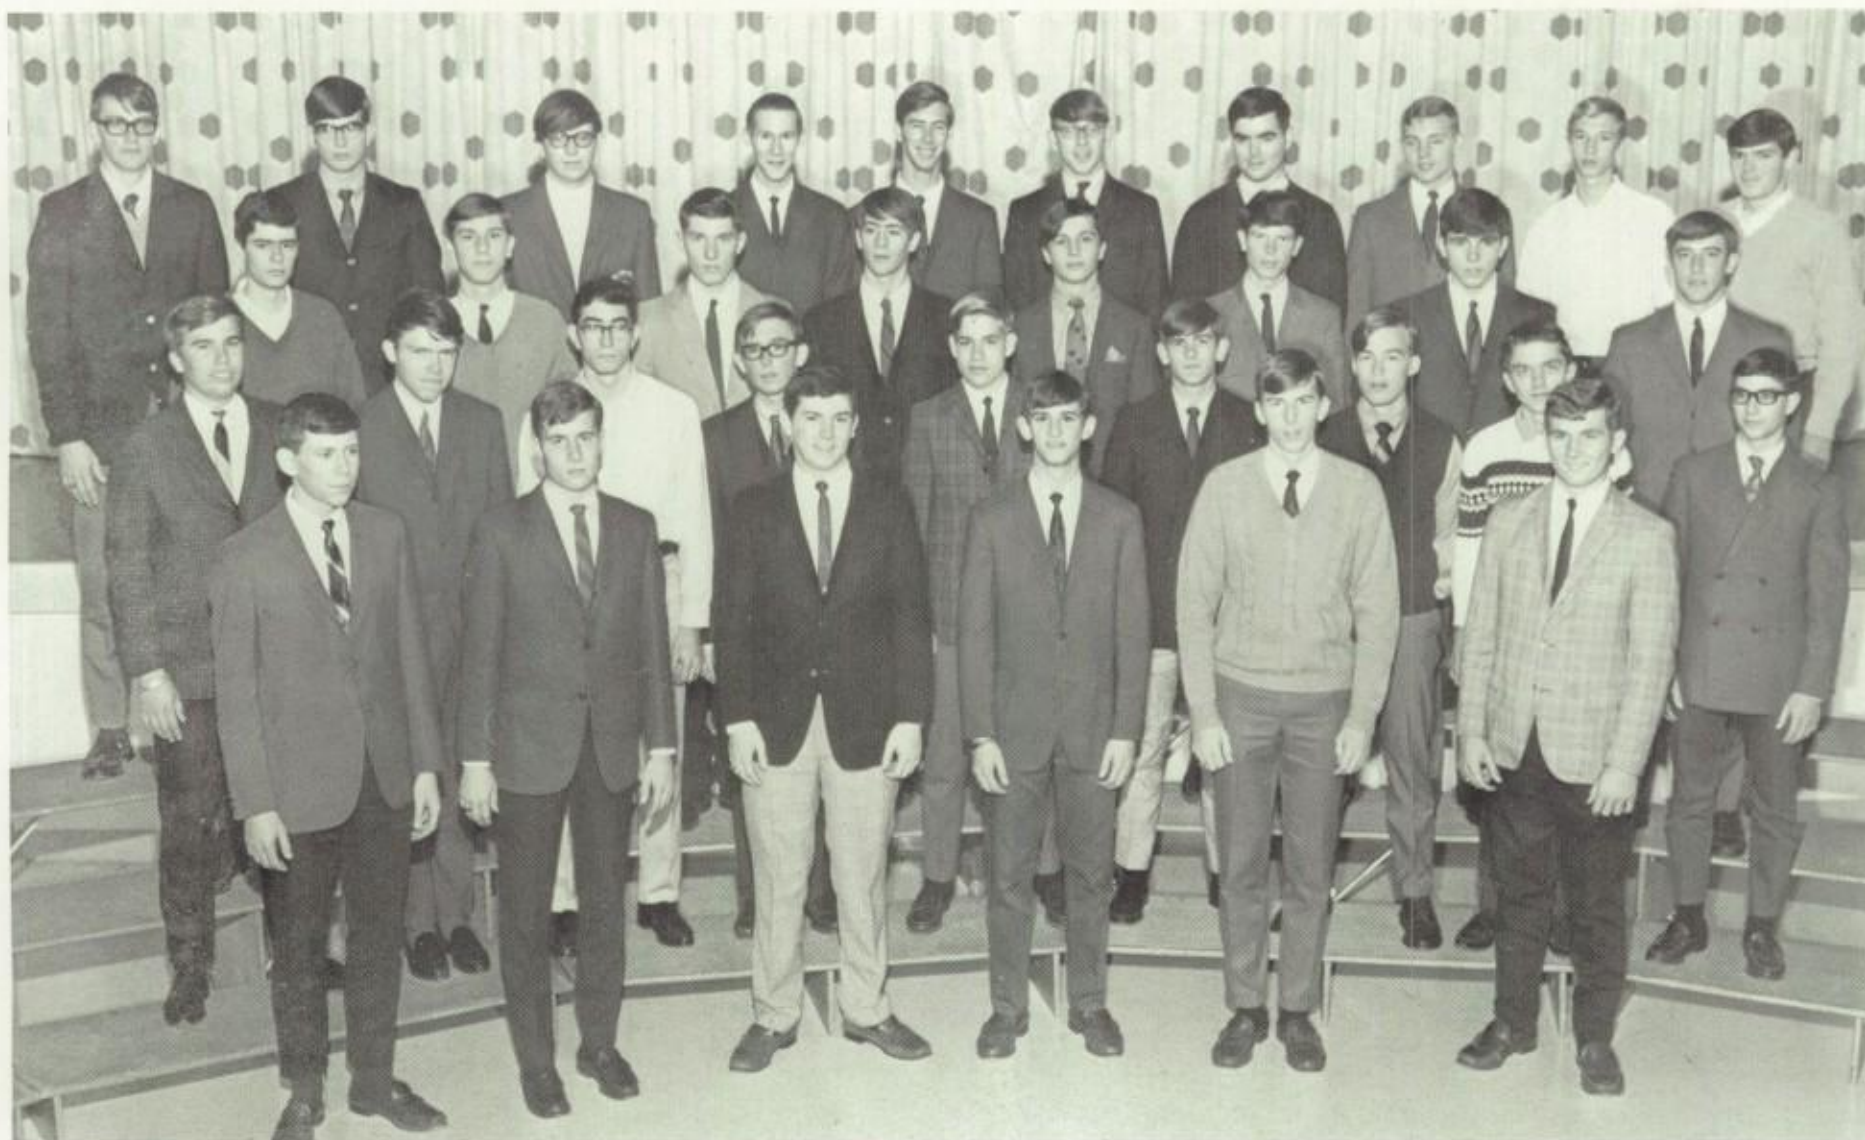

The book fair, which consisted of the sale of popular paperback books, was highly successful.

Mrs. Oehlschlaeger provided the effective sponsorship that made this club beneficial to its members and the student body in general.

Hi-Y: Boys' club designed for service

Hi-Y club members socialize after a monthly meeting.

Hi-Y, sponsored by Mr. Lindner, was a club solely for boys. The club's membership was made up of boys who made a special effort to aid needy people in the community.

The club built a float for Football Homecoming and also entered a team in a basketball league, which did well. The club proved to be an asset to the boys within it and to the school's co-curricular program as a whole.

Y-Teens help to better community

Nancy Laughlin sells pastries made by members of Y-Teens.

The members of Y-Teens, under the guidance of Mrs. Pauline Williams, indulged in various projects in their attempt to aid the community in which they lived. They sponsored several bake sales at Colerain. At Christmas they visited an orphanage and gave a party for the children living there. On Valentine's Day they made gifts for bed-ridden patients at the Mt. Healthy Christian Home. Their final project of the year was the making of Easter baskets to send to needy families in the area.

The community was very grateful to all the Y-Teen members for their hard and charitable work.

Art talents perfected

Art Club members find expression through different media.

The talented members of Art Club, with the help of faculty advisor Mrs. Hillard, studied the various aspects of art through experimentation with different media. Their after-class study enabled them to put extra time and work into their creations, and thus acquire a better understanding of the art field.

The club's major project of the school year was the creation of background scenes for the production of "Bye Bye Birdie," which contributed to the success of the play and proved to be a credit to the Art Club members.

Projectors, record players, stage lighting and sound were A.V.A.'s "tools of trade." The members, along with their sponsor, Mr. McClung, provided numerous teachers with audio-visual materials that added to the class lectures and discussions. They further aided many teachers by operating projectors. In addition to these services, A.V.A. members found time to repair machinery and to keep Colerain's audio-visual equipment in working order. The assistance of A.V.A. members was appreciated by the school's entire teaching staff.

Mental challenge posed by Chess Club

Chess Club members study their boards during a meeting.

Chess Club, sponsored by Mr. Browning, offered students a chance to challenge each other mentally. Through the year, members of the club worked to improve their game by challenging each other. Involvement in Chess Club proved to be an intellectually stimulating as well as enjoyable experience.

CARDETTES: FIRST ROW: J. Winall, G. Gutknecht, F. Zupancic. SECOND ROW: D. Mosier, J. Egner, V. Fangman, P. Dilk.

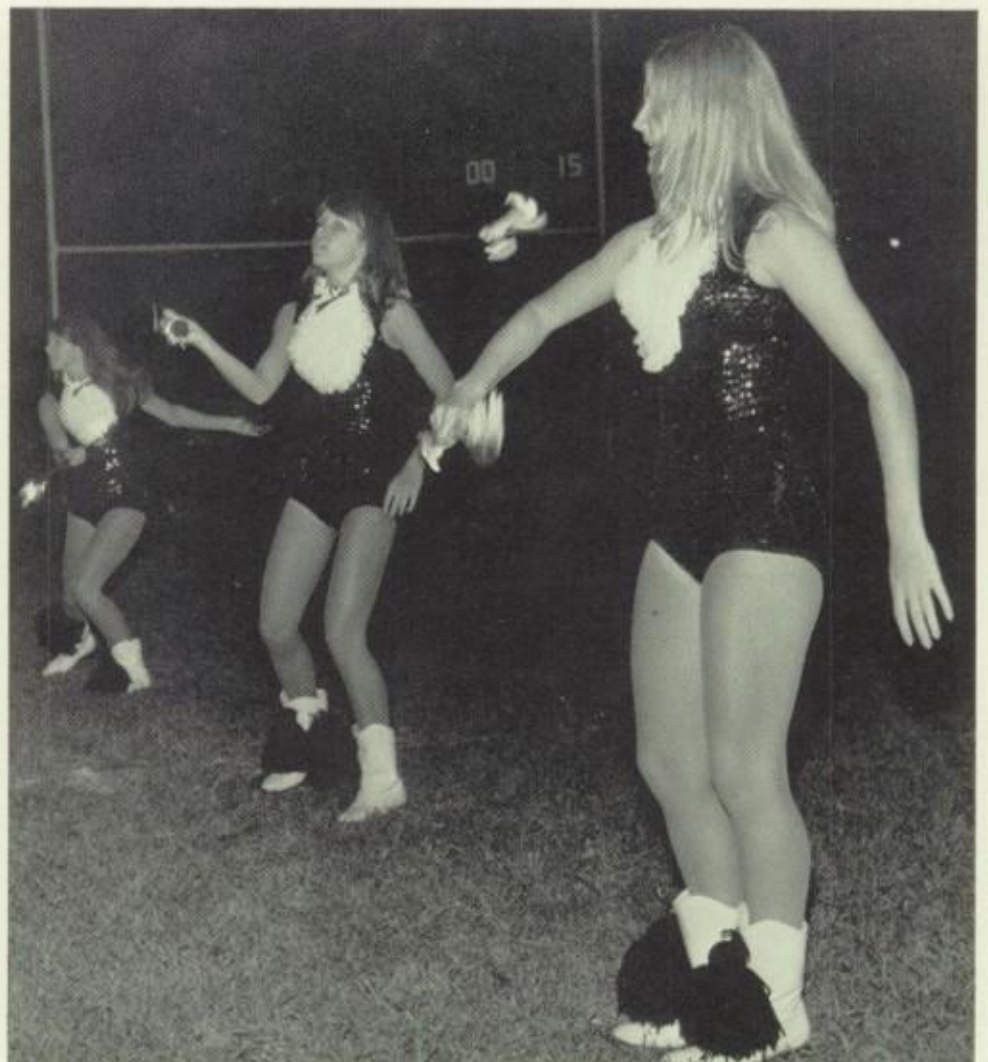

The 1968-69 school year proved to be one of success for the Cardettes. The group illustrated their versatility and ability by performing at both school and outside activities. Among these functions were Harvest Home, Northwest County Fair, St. Patrick's Day Parade and the traditional performances at Football and Basketball Homecomings. These girls practiced hard to achieve the performing excellence which was apparent to all who viewed them.

School spirit, which has been in evidence over the years at Colerain, has been personified by the cheerleaders. The 1969 squad, under the direction of Mrs. Catharina Henke and Miss Ina Gregory, did much to boost the enthusiasm of the spectators and the morale of the Cards.

Besides the regular varsity and reserve girls' squads, the football season was enlivened by the boy cheerleaders, whose pep and cheering ability matched the girls' in every aspect.

When not on the football field or basketball court, the girls were kept busy decorating the school with posters. They also sponsored the annual Ugly Man contest, to raise money for the Foreign Exchange Student Fund, and to send themselves to summer camp.

The vitality and hard work of the cheerleaders proved vital in keeping the "Cardinal spirit" alive.

Rhythmettes: a colorful tradition

Rhythmettes add variety and color to the annual Christmas assembly.

Under the efficient guidance of Miss Rabe and co-captains Judy Pohlar and Mary Ann Hoberg, Rhythmettes were kept busy with tedious practices, helping to prepare them for their numerous performances.

Participation in various parades began their year's activities; then came football half-time performances at Colerain and Xavier University. Football season was highlighted by their performance at a nationally televised Bengals game.

The Rhythmettes also appeared during Basketball season for the Homecoming, Christmas, and Senior Recognition half-time performances.

Marching Band proves instrumental to school spirit

Band members relax on the sidelines prior to a performance.

The Colerain High School Marching Band, under the direction of Mr. Lee R. Suman, was a major part of the halftime entertainment throughout the football season. The Band Planning Committee devised the group's formations and planned the musical arrangements. Besides performing its own spotlight selections, the band provided the background music for the Cardettes' and Rhythmettes' routines.

The group also exhibited its talents to others in the community, with its participation in the Harvest Home and St. Patrick's Day Parades.

The Marching Band's precision and fine musical ability were a credit to the school and a welcome contribution to the fall sports program.

The Colerain High School Concert Band, under the direction of Mr. Suman, distinguished itself in many ways throughout the year. The several fine concerts which the group presented displayed the excellence for which it was known. Colerain's musical, “Bye Bye Birdie,” could not have been the success it was without the band's musical accompaniment, proving that the group was worthy of the fine reputation which it had acquired.

Pep Band enhances school spirit

Bob Maile contributes musically to a pep assembly.

A well known sight and sound at pep assemblies and basketball games was the Pep Band. This organization added spirit to C.H.S. sports events through its popular renditions of such songs as "Windy" and "Sweet Georgia Brown."

Student director, Mark Conrad, and faculty advisor, Mr. Hanning, joined together to form the excellent blend of talent and enthusiasm which made the 1968-69 Pep Band a welcome enhancement to Colerain school spirit.

Colerain's choirs, under the direction of Mr. Hanning, could claim the 1968-69 school year as one of their most outstanding. The ensemble received the highest possible rating in the Cincinnati Solo Ensemble Contest. The Girls Glee Club also did very well. The Ensemble went on to receive a 2-rating at the state contest in Lima, Ohio. The talent and achievement of these students brought pride to themselves, their director, and to Colerain.

Coach Colussi's Cardinal reserves finished their 1968 season below the 500 mark. Following its first two losses, the team experienced a three-game winning streak, and then tied Oak Hills in a scoreless game. One more win and two more losses completed the season. Though the team seemed to often lack the ability to come through with the big play when it was needed, the games were continually close and hard-fought.

Cards suffer

Carl Leveridge picks up blocking and runs around end for 15 yards.

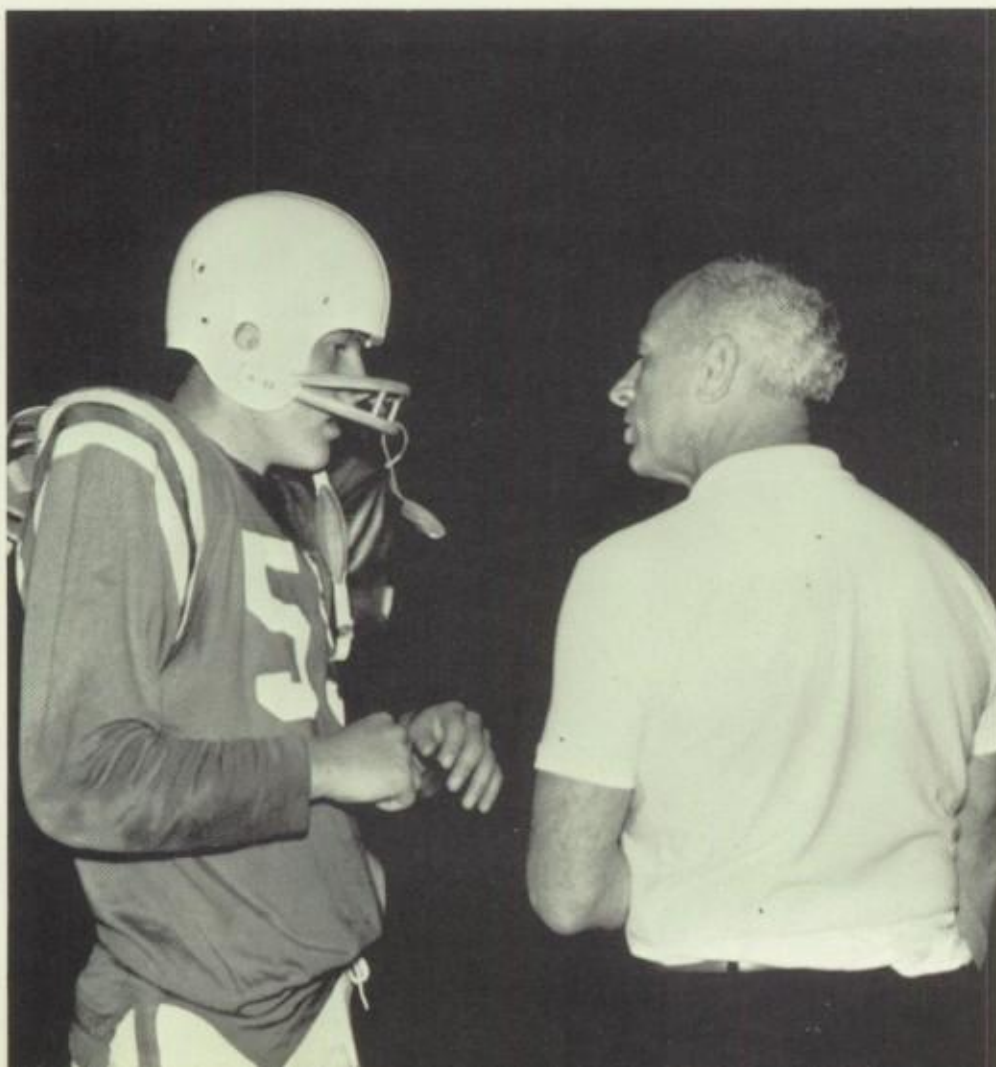

The Colerain varsity football team fell to a disappointing season's record of two wins and eight defeats. There were few players returning from last season's championship team, and as a result, many of the team members lacked the experience of varsity competition. One of the victories was a 24-0 win over Mt. Healthy in the Homecoming Game. Colerain also defeated Taylor 12-0. Although the team lacked seasoning, they provided the fans with many exciting moments.

Colerain's 1968 Harriers compiled a record of no wins and seven losses in varsity competition. The team was young and inexperienced with only two seniors as members. The bright spot for the team was the running ability of the sophomores. Led by Mark Driscoll and Chris Wesolowski, the underclassmen made a worthy addition to the team. Mark finished first in the reserves county meet and 18th in the district meet at Princeton. The record does not indicate the talent which was developed during the 1968 season, with the large turnout of sophomore and junior prospects.

Initial season is a success for sophomores

In their first season, the sophomore basketball team had an excellent 8-4 record. The team was led by Coach Gundrum until mid-term, when the position was filled by Coach Geisen. Both men did a fine job coaching the sophomores. The purpose of the team was to give more boys playing experience. This should become apparent in the next few years as the players graduate to the reserve and varsity teams.

Mark Driscoll's rebounding prowess helps to defeat Oak Hills.

The season was another great one for the 1968-69 edition of the Colerain reserve basketball team. The Cards compiled a 12-2 league record to win the title, and a 14-4 record overall. It was the second straight year the Cards won the league. The team was coached by Mr. Scobee until mid-term when Mr. Gundrum took over. Both men did an excellent job in coaching this talented squad. The reserve quintet should add greatly to the 1970 varsity team.

Coach Boyd's initial season with the varsity quintet was a success as the Cards finished with a 14 and 6 record and a second place tie in league competition. The Cardinals were beset by early season injuries to their key players, and as a result lost their first three games. With the return of the players the team won fourteen of the remaining seventeen games, including nine in a row. Of the team's leading five seniors, Chuck Witt was selected for the Hamilton County First Team, and Don Smith, Keith Hammitt, and Ron Beekman received honorable mentions. In tournament play the Cards defeated Princeton 66-46 in the first game, but were then defeated by North College Hill 48-42 in the second round.

Mark Kilpatrick and opponent grapple for the advantage of a takedown.

With the loss of many of last year's varsity grapplers, the Cardinals fell to a disappointing record of three wins and nine losses. The Cards had only three of last year's members returning and, as a result, lacked the experience necessary for a winning campaign. The Colerain victories came over Hamilton Taft, Cincinnati Taft, and Western Hills. Several members of the team turned in impressive records. Tim Hasselbeck placed second in the Southwestern District Wrestling Tournament and Gary Singer placed fourth. The Cards lacked the experience necessary for a winning season, but the members were dedicated to the sport, and worked hard to make up for their deficiencies.

Ted Hoskins practices putting before a crucial match.

Coach Ellert's golfers finished with a 4-8 mark in 1969. The team lacked the experience of competition, as most of the players were new to varsity action. It was composed of only two returning starters, but the rest of the team possessed the skill and desire needed to accomplish such a record. In district competition, the team advanced to the round before bowing out to Mt. Healthy, 4-0. With many juniors returning, the Cardinals were assured of fielding an experienced 1970 team.

The 1969 Reserve Track Team, coached by Mr. Geisen and Mr. Hill, had too much speed and strength for the opposition. Their record was a very impressive 9-1. The only loss came in a triangular meet with Elder and Mt. Healthy, in which the Cards finished second. The opponents fell one by one as the Cardinals won the Hamilton County Suburban League Championship. The reserves came in first out of eight teams in the Oak Hills Development Relays, scoring 102½ points. A spirited pep assembly holds the attention of cheering sophomores.

Sophomore orientation is one of the many important programs held annually at Colerain High School. The 1968-69 program was the first of the events which would be experienced by the new members of the student body. New students were welcomed to the school through a guided tour of the building, a discussion of school rules in assigned homerooms, and a lively pep assembly. The program was ended with a social hour in the cafeteria, giving students an opportunity to meet with classmates and to view club activities. Orientation gave the sophomores a better understanding of high school and of what was to come in their years at Colerain.

1968 FOOTBALL HOMECOMING QUEEN: BRENDA WOODRUM

Captain Hook's pirate ship hooks first place for the Chorus.

The 1968 Football Homecoming program was the successful product of many individuals. The team, the spectators, and the members of C-Club, supervised by president Judy Pohlar, combined to create a Homecoming of which Colerain could be proud.

The pre-game festivities included a show by the Marching Band and the traditional display of floats, both of which incorporated the Homecoming theme, "The Wonderful World of Walt Disney." At the half-time of a rousing 28-0 victory over Mt. Healthy, the winning floats were announced. The Chorus' "Captain Hook" received first place, followed by the Rhythmettes' "Dumbo" and Spanish Club's "Pinocchio."

Then came the awaited announcement, as senior Brenda Woodrum was crowned 1968 Football Homecoming Queen. The Homecoming dance, honoring Brenda and her court, followed the game.

Football Homecoming was an enjoyable experience for both the spectators and those who worked to make it a success.

"My Three Angels," Colerain's fall play, was the successful endeavor of the members of speech class, under the direction of Mrs. Bullock. Sam and Bella Spewack's comedy involves three convicts who escape from prison, only to find themselves helping to solve a family's problems. The fine production provided enjoyment for both the audience and the cast.

"My Three Angels" was a credit to Mrs. Bullock, the players, and the backstage assistants, all of whom united their efforts to make Colerain's traditional fall play a success.

The musical comedy "Bye Bye Birdie" was centered around the visit of the celebrated rock and roll star, Conrad Birdie, to the small town of Sweet Apple, Ohio. The cast maintained the quick and lively tempo which the play required throughout, as they entertained the audience with many spirited numbers.

JACK GREBER and JENNY GRABER

Students pause to enjoy the beat of "The Insects."

For just a few weeks during the school year, the Christmas spirit reigned at CHS; but those weeks saw all that was traditionally Christmas. The window displays, created through the efforts of various clubs, added to the gaiety of the building, as did the outside lights and the tree in the front hall. The high points of the season were the annual Christmas concert, featuring the Chorus and the Rhythmettes, and F.T.A.'s Christmas dance, of which Jack Greber and Jenny Graber were crowned King and Queen.

These events were Colerain's contribution to the holidays—traditional events for the greatest of all traditions, Christmas.

"Ye Old Toy Shoppe" provides a unique holiday window display.

Christmas spirit abounds at CHS

The Ensemble lends a musical note to the season at the annual Christmas concert.

Debbie gasps with surprise as she is chosen 1969 Homecoming Queen.

The 1968 Homecoming Queen, Pam Rahn, presents the crown to her radiant successor.

Basketball Homecoming: a victory and a queen

Varsity cheerleaders extend their congratulations to Debbie.

Don Smith leaps above a Mt. Healthy defender for an easy basket.

The success of 1969 Basketball Homecoming was attributed to the efforts of both the co-chairmen, Diane Moon and Lisa Waslo, and the victorious Cardinals. The evening's events included an 83-64 victory over Mt. Healthy's Owls, the crowning of Debbie Lauck as the 1969 Homecoming Queen, and an enjoyable conclusion at the Homecoming dance, which incorporated "Roaring 20's" as its theme.

The combination of these activities plus the enthusiastic spectators produced an enjoyable and highly successful 1969 Basketball Homecoming program.

UGLY MEN AND SERVANTS: KNEELING: J. Hair, L. Wyenandt, S. Mattis, R. Knox. STANDING: J. Lauch, S. Francisco, D. Ross, T. Mistak, S. Kent, G. Johnson, M. Maringer, B. Schmitt, B. Aston, D. Vandriessche, D. Ramig, J. Lauch, D. Weber.

1969 UGLY MAN: RANDY KNOX

$458 worth of ugliness

During the annual Ugly Man campaign, such characters as Fat Albert, Grandpa Walneto, and Pig Pen roamed Colerain's halls for an entire week, greedily searching for hand-outs. Each repulsive candidate and his cheerleader sponsor kept a ready hand open for monetary contributions. Each penny counted as one vote, and the candidate collecting the most money would be crowned Ugly Man of 1969.

At the end of the week-long campaign, an assembly was held and the 1968 Ugly Man, Mike Maringer, reluctantly gave up his crown to 1969's most grotesque character, Randy Knox.

The $458 which was collected enabled the cheerleaders to go to summer camp, and would aid in bringing a foreign student to Colerain.

The annual Spring Sports festivities served as a welcome to a season of new athletic competition at Colerain.

The selection of a queen from among six lovely candidates, and track and field competition with eight other schools composed the 1969 Spring Sports activities. Senior Nancy Greene was chosen to reign over the track events, in which Colerain's team placed second.

The radiance of the queen and her court, and Colerain's achievements during the track meet produced an enjoyable and highly successful 1969 Spring Sports program.

PROM KING AND QUEEN:
WAYNE FIELER AND CONNIE TAYLOR

Couples converse at their table during a break in the dancing.

The 1969 Senior Prom, held in the Cincinnati Convention Center, had as its theme, "Some Enchanted Evening." Those who attended the event experienced such an evening, as they danced to the music of the Frankie Brown Orchestra, viewed the beautiful ball room with its fountain and abundance of flowers, and saw Connie Taylor and Wayne Fielor crowned Queen and King of the prom.

Chairman Pam Ellis and her assistants worked to create an enchanting and memorable evening for the members of the 1969 graduating class.

Candidates Jenni Bernhardt and Ron Beekman takes their places to await the crowning.

Dwight Weber and Greg Vickers entertain with their rendition of "Honey."

Chairman Pam Ellis is escorted by her fellow candidate, Wayne Fieler.

Mr. Gilbert Hopkins, director of Cincinnati's Teen Breakfast, speaks to the class of 1969.

The 1969 Baccalaureate program was, as always, designed to emphasize the spiritual aspect of graduation. The Ensemble's choral invocation ushered the class into the gymnasium, and set the mood for the solemn occasion. Mr. Gilbert Hopkins, of the College Hill Presbyterian Church and director of Cincinnati's successful Teen Breakfast, addressed the class, and was followed by a choral benediction. The valedictorian and salutatorian then led their class in the recessional.

The Baccalaureate proceedings served to impress upon the graduating class the responsibilities to themselves and to others which they would assume upon leaving Colerain.

Graduation exercises

Don Smith inspects his diploma after graduation ceremonies.

On June 3, 1969, over five hundred seniors assembled on the football field for Commencement exercises, to the tune of the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance." Lynn Eiler and Lorre Weidlich, valedictorian and salutatorian, delivered memorable addresses. Mr. Robert Kleeman, principal, presented the class to Mr. Edmond Hammond, superintendent. Mr. Hammond, with the assistance of Keith Hammitt and Larry Hereth, president and vice-president of the Student Council, presented the diplomas to the class. After the entire class received their diplomas, they became official graduates by the traditional switching of their tassels from left to right.

The graduation ceremonies were the impressive climax to the students' years at Colerain.

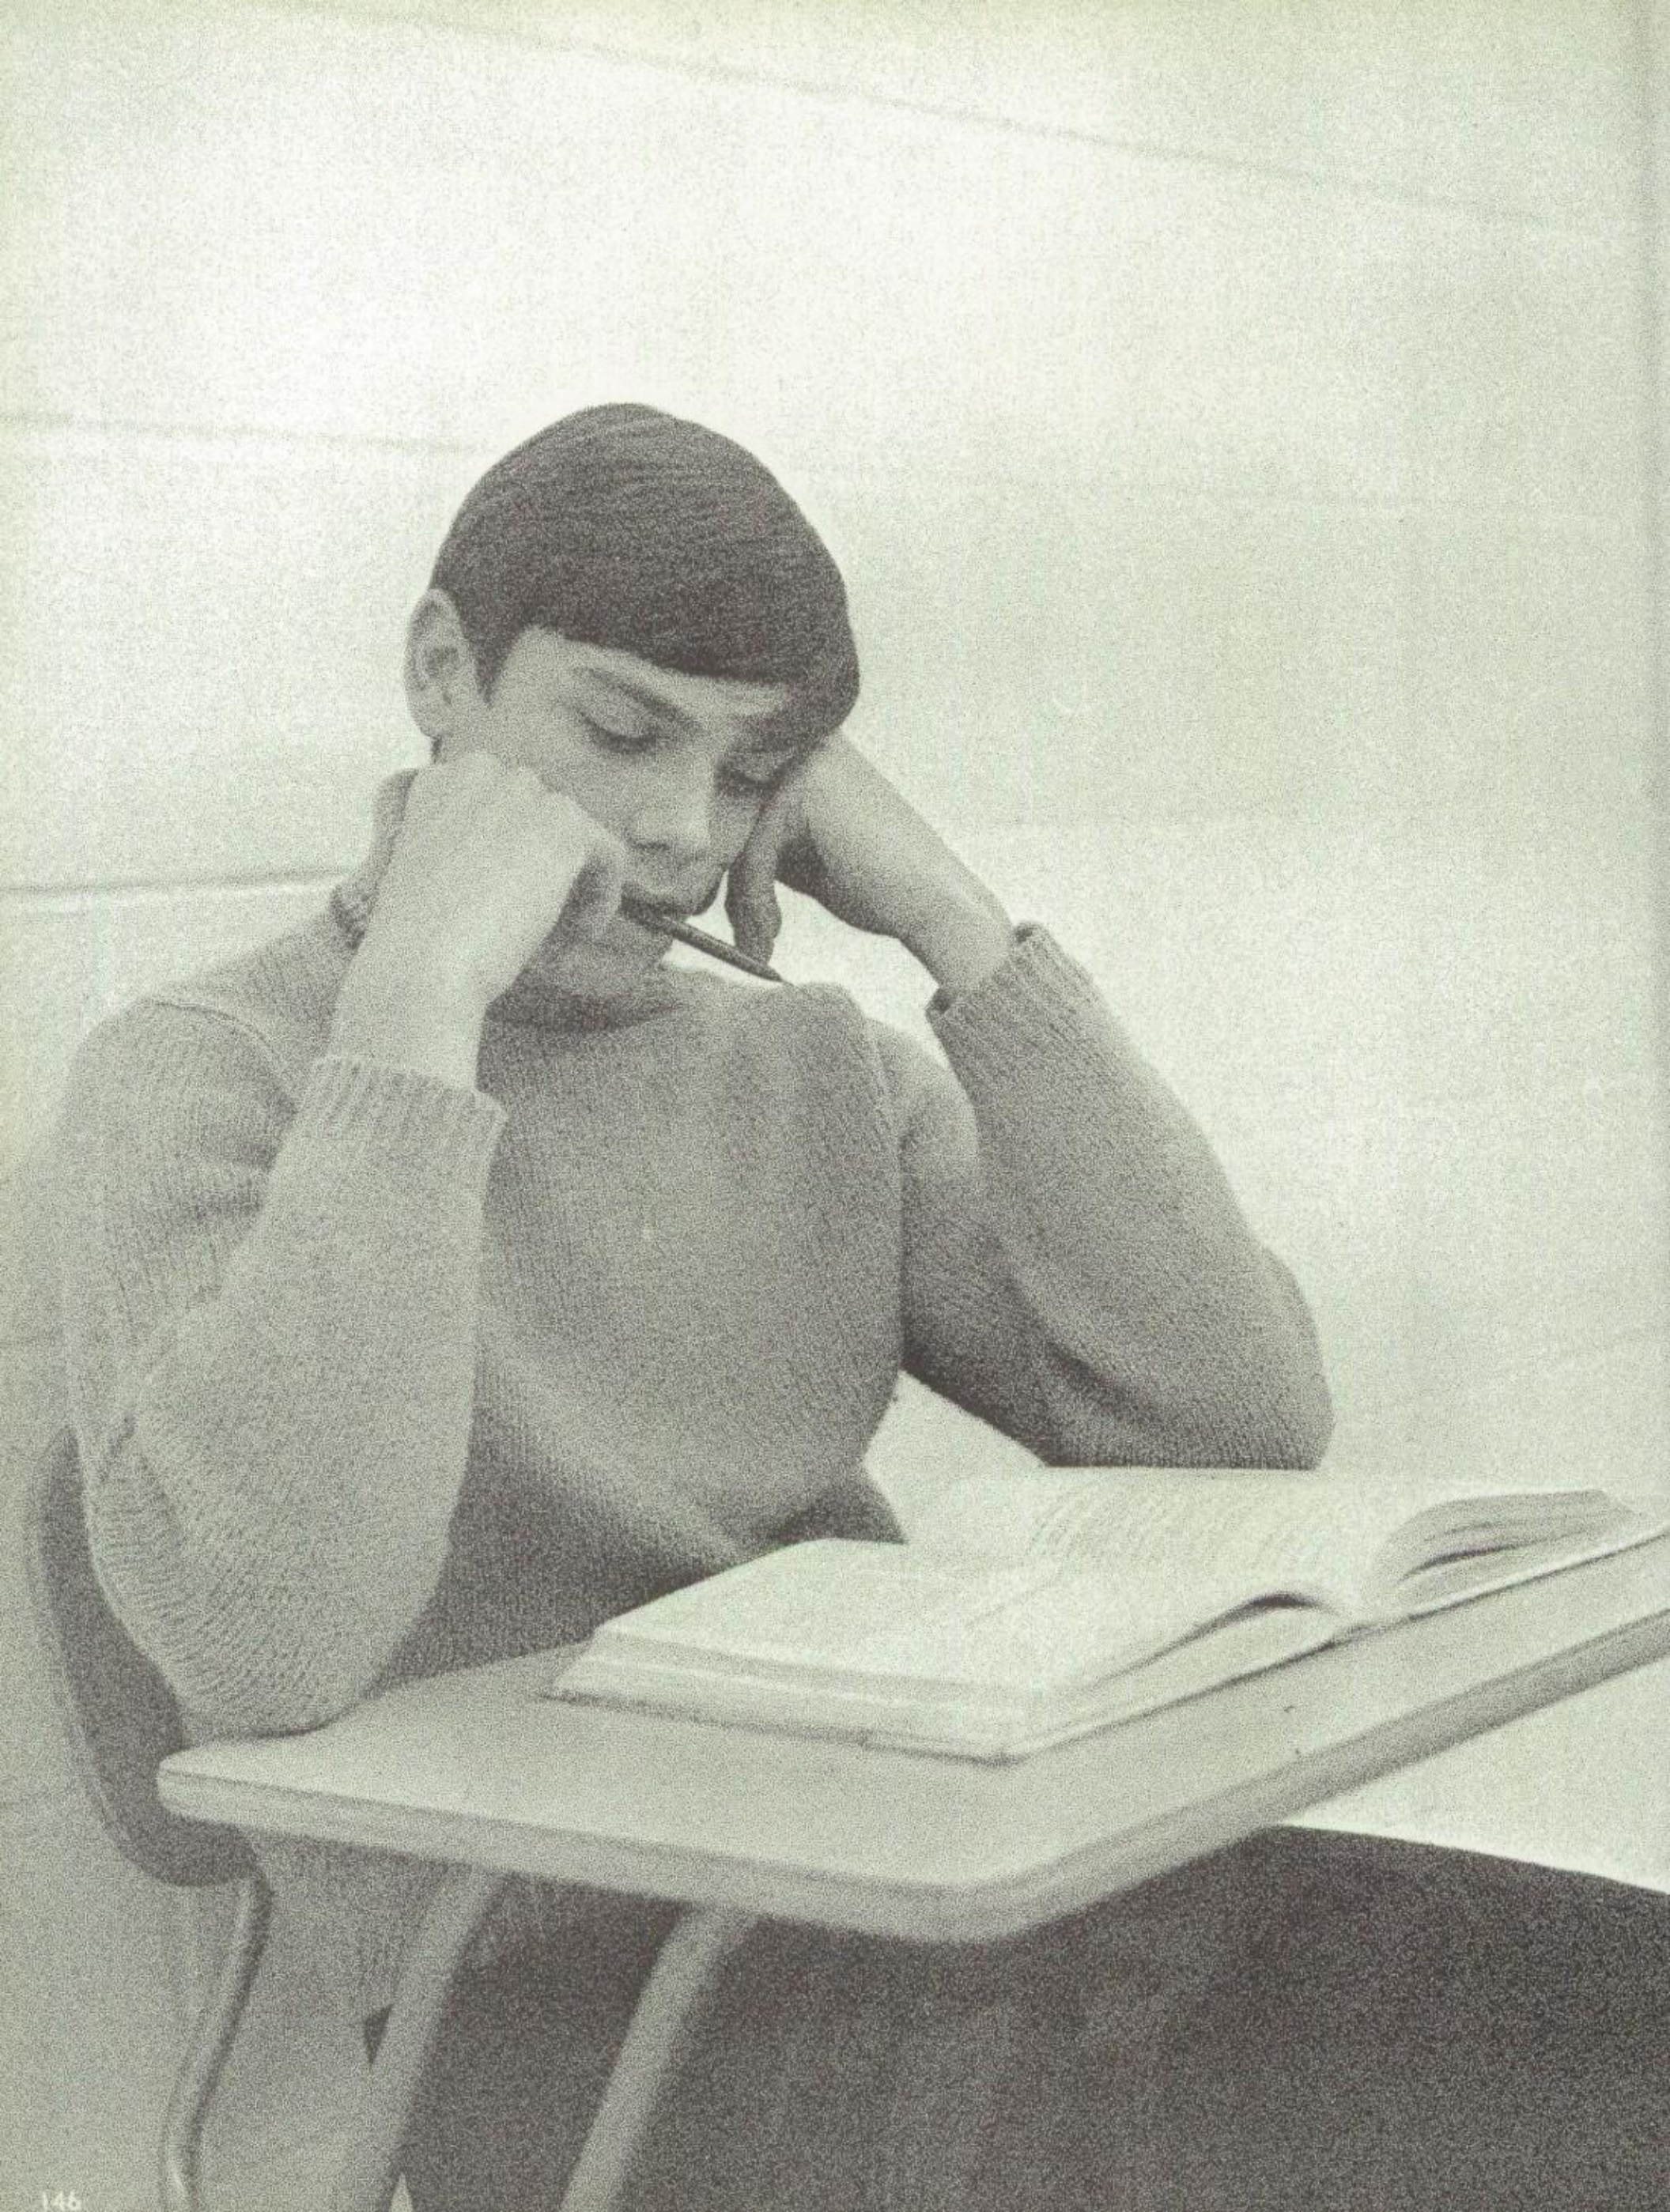

The class assembles for its final function at Colerain.

To the Senior Class of 1969

The members of the Northwest Boosters Association Congratulate you on successfully completing your high school career at Colerain. We wish you the best of luck in whatever you may attempt in the future. The training you have received in high school will provide a firm foundation for your adult lives. We hope that we may eventually welcome each of you into the Northwest Boosters Association as active Colerain Boosters.

Sincerely yours,

NORTHWEST BOOSTERS ASSOCIATION

Afterword

Colerain High School extends opportunity. It does not extend the promise of success; it can do no more than present to its students the chance to learn—from books, from teachers, from each other. The pages of this book are meant to depict the many opportunities which were offered at Colerain in 1969. Each class, each game, each club, and each honor enabled the student to grow, both in his relations with others and within himself. And it is our hope that the CARDINAL itself extends its own, very special opportunity—the opportunity to remember.

THE 1969 CARDINAL STAFF

Faculty Advisor Joseph Epplen
Editor-in-Chief Donna Wissinger
Business Manager Don Smith
Sports Editor Dave Wells
Staff Members Connie Distler,
Mary Ewing, Karen Faeth, Nancy Lively, Susan Moon, Dan Oliver,
Liz Ray, Lynn Roberts, Stevie Schunk, Mary Seicshnaydre, Dwight
Weber, Chuck Witt.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Terry Hirtzinger of Taylor Publishing Company for his assistance and expert advice and everyone at Osborne Photographic Laboratories for their cooperation and excellent photography.

To Judy,
To a girl who can sew
better than I can.
Martha
